NO. 183—SIXTY-SIXTH YEAR | VICTORIA, BRITISH COLUMBIA, SATURDAY, JULY 12, 1924 | EIGHTEEN PAGES

FIRE SITUATION WORST IN YEARS

Thousands of Acres Swept by Flames by High Winds in the States of Montana and Idaho

$100,000 DAMAGES ON ISLE OFF POWELL RIVER

Dozens of New Outbreaks in Oregon and in California and Affairs Reach Critical Stage

MISSOULA, Mont., July 11.—With flames sweeping over thousands of acres of forest lands in Western Montana and Northern Idaho and high winds fanning them beyond all established control lines, forest service crews today faced the worst fire situation for years in this district. Extremely low humidity has increased the fire menace, they say.

PORTLAND, July 11—With dozens of new forest fires in Oregon and with indications of continued dry weather, the forest fire situation again became critical today. More forest fires were reported to the Portland office of the forest service than any other day this year, although many of the blazes were small. The messages came from practically every section of the state.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 11.—California's forest fires seemed to have assumed a more serious phase today, with reports of uncontrolled fires in three widely separated parts of the state, according to reports to the forest service here. Probably the most serious blaze is that which is proving so far impossible to subdue in the Santa Barbara national forest, north of Los Angeles. It has climbed to the top of Sawmill Mountain, 5,771 feet above sea level, and has run into several canyons. A force of 250 men was reported as concerning their efforts to shorten the front in heavy timber stands.

On Redonda Island

VANCOUVER, July 11.—Damage to the extent of more than $100,000 has already been suffered on Redonda Island through the raging of devastating forest fires, which from latest advices have practically enveloped the large island.

Redonda Island lies some twenty miles north of Powell River, and it is feared that the big logging camp of the Mosher Logging Company has been wiped out, according to Union Steamship Company officials. Such is the information received from those on board the U.S.S. Chenkamus, which arrived in Vancouver last night from Campbell River.

Fortunately, as far as can be ascertained, no lives were lost. All the inhabitants are fighting the flames with all their might and main, but with the dry weather that has been experienced recently, it is feared that their labors will be in vain, unless heavy rain falls. 'Rain, it is said, is the only thing that can save the situation, for there is a strong wind blowing.

All the Forestry Department officials stationed in Vancouver have left for the scene of the fires, which are now said to have become general all over the Coast district.

OPTIMISTIC FEELING PREVAILS IN LONDON

SATISFACTION EXPRESSED AS TO OUTCOME OF PARLEY

Tendency to Brighten Manifest on 'Change — Lord Rothermere Launches Huge Flotation

LONDON, July 11.—Political uncertainty regarding reparations and monetary uncertainties concerning a rise in the bank rate continue to exercise an influence on the stock exchange. Fears about the bank rate so far have proved unfounded, and optimism appears to be in the ascendancy in connection with the coming Allied conference, these factors probably explaining why the price continues quite firm and a tendency is manifested in some speculative sections to brighten. The only interesting feature just now is the reception accorded new issues.

Lord Rothermere's Latest

Tonight there is another new issue on the great scale with which Lord Rothermere made Britishers acquainted in his big deals last Autumn. His lordship's latest flotation is The Daily Sketch and Sunday Herald, two illustrated papers. Debentures to the amount of £1,600,000, six and one-half per cent, in the new concern are offered at 99, guaranteed by The Daily Mirror Co., Lord Rothermere's older company.

Saskatoon is offering to purchase 26,000 shares of its five per cent stock at 97. The issue originally was made here twelve years ago at 99, and like other Western issues at that time went like hot cakes. It is probable that most of the holders of this stock will now prefer to stick to it and will not sell.

Aviator Hops Off, But Is Compelled to Return To Kasumigaura

KASUMIGUARA, Japan, July 12.—A. Stuart MacLaren, who hopped off with two companions this afternoon for Minato on a flight around the world, was forced to return here by engine trouble which developed soon after the start. MacLaren hopes to start again for Minato tomorrow morning.

Scottish Farmers to Make Their Homes in This Province Soon

Two hundred ploughmen from all parts of Scotland, including twenty-two splendid families, recently sailed from Scotland, under the direction of Mr. T. E. Roberts, of the Department of Colonization and Development, Canadian Pacific Railway. These immigrants have capital ranging from a few hundred to a thousand pounds. Ninety of the party, hailing from the counties of Inverness, Ross, Sutherland and Caithness, were selected by Miss Anne MacDonald, Canadian Government agent at Inverness. Most of the party entrained for the West upon arrival at Quebec.

Seven Killed in Religious Riot In City of Delhi

DELHI, British India, July 11.—Seven persons were reported killed today in a riot which was the outcome of a quarrel between Hindus and Moslems. Virtually the entire city took part in the rioting. The disturbance is attributed to Hindus objecting to a Moslem boy drawing water from a certain well. The boy was violently beaten and is said to have died later in a hospital.

INSANE SAILOR STAGES MUTINY ON RUM RUNNER

SYDNEY, C. B., July 11.—Police, answering distress signals flown by the rum runner Annie S., as she crept into port today, rescued the crew from an insane sailor armed with an axe and chisel, who had taken command of the vessel. The single-handed mutiny was staged by Lewis Quelleon, of St. Pierre, according to Captain White of the Annie S. Quelleon ran amuck soon after the vessel left the island, bound for the American coast with a cargo of assorted liquors.

WINNIPEG'S MAYOR HERE FOR HOLIDAY

FAVORABLE CROP CONDITIONS THROUGHOUT WEST

Prairies Big Enough to Supply Coast Elevators Without Hurting the East, He Believes

Among yesterday's visitors to Victoria to call on Mayor Hayward at the City Hall was Mayor S. J. Farmer, of Winnipeg, who is spending a brief holiday at the Coast. Mayor Farmer, besides being chief executive of the Prairie City, is also a member of the Manitoba Legislative Assembly.

"Prospects on the Prairies appear to be excellent," Mayor Farmer said last night, when asked about 1924 crop conditions. "The growth is not very high, but it is sturdy, and its high quality seems to be fairly uniform in all of the three Prairie Provinces. Grain growers I spoke to at various points during my trip to the mountains had a very cheerful outlook, and if ordinarily good weather conditions prevail until harvest time we will be assured of a crop as big, and probably bigger, than that of last year."

Business conditions were rather quiet in Winnipeg, Mayor Farmer said, but he pointed out that such a state was not unusual at this particular time of the year, just before the new grain crop was harvested.

The Winnipeg mayor laughed when asked about the Crow's Nest Pass freight rates agreement and the fight now being waged for and against its re-enactment. "You know very well where we stand in Winnipeg," he said. "We want cheap transportation rates East. I know that desire is not very popular in British Columbia just now."

Winnipeg grain dealers and business men generally were not being disturbed by the great growth of the Pacific Coast grain export route, he said. That Alberta grain should leave Canada through British Columbia instead of via the longer Eastern haul was looked upon as the natural result of geographical advantages, and they believed that the Canadian West was big enough to keep both channels of export going—and growing.

Mayor Farmer said that he had not had time to inspect Victoria yet, but if it came up to the many good things he had heard about it, he might try to induce Mayor Hayward to change mayoralty chairs with him for a while.

Mysterious Fire at Elma

ELMA, Wash., July 11.—Discovery of the body of an unidentified man near the residence of Allan T. Witmer West Main Street, which was destroyed by a mysterious fire early this morning and reports by neighbors of a shot heard, have set on foot an inquiry to determine whether the man was murdered and how

Germany Faces Delayed Crisis in Stabilization

Present Credit Inflation Almost Sure to Lead to the Worst Economic Disaster—Failures of Bankers Are Taking Place Daily—Insolvencies in Industry and Wholesale and Retail Trades Are Now Being Predicted—Magic Formula Exists No More

DRESDEN, July 11.—It was generally expected that the stabilization of the mark would entail a crisis in German trade and industry. Too many new industrial enterprises had been founded in the period of inflation, and more middlemen had set up in business than could continue to exist once reasonable monetary conditions were reintroduced. Though the "visible" commodities have considerably diminished, trade firms have tripled since 1914!

Most of the newcomers were parasites, able to operate only by availing themselves of the chances inflation and a deteriorating currency offer. These opportunities were bound to disappear once the mark became stable. Stabilization was expected to end the rush for goods and produce in its place an excess of commodities offered, all reasons for hoarding or retaining excessive stocks being eliminated.

Price Drop Expected

The greatly reduced purchasing ability of the population was expected to bring a decided fall of prices. All but the old and well-established firms were expected to be quickly wiped out, and their disappearance was even desired, as they were in general unnecessary, both for the production and the distribution of goods. A large increase in unemployment was regarded as inevitable.

What actually happened after the stabilization was just the contrary of all this. No bankruptcies occurred; prices did not drop; unemployment decreased by leaps and bounds. In the Free State of Saxony—next to the Ruhr, Germany's greatest and most thickly populated industrial area—there were 604,000 workers unemployed and 582,000 on short time on December 1, 1923. On May 1, 1924, the number of unemployed had fallen to 91,000, and short time had been completely abolished.

These figures are all the more astonishing since in the same period the orders from abroad slackened considerably owing to the rise of German prices above world market prices. The trade balance was in Germany's favor until the end of 1923, but in the first quarter of 1924 the imports exceeded the exports by £32,000,000.

The lack of foreign orders was, however, more than offset by the orders received for the home market. There was nothing surprising in the urgent demand for commodities on the part of the German population, who for years had been making the best of torn and patched clothing, underclothing, shoewear, etc.; what was astonishing was that the impoverished German consumer had suddenly obtained the means to buy.

The Magic Formula

The magic formula which had restored purchasing ability among the Germans was credit! Credit granted and availed of everywhere, and granted first in abundance by the Reichsbank and the Rentenbank, which lent out, in the first quarter of 1924, about £100,000,000 to industry, trade and agriculture.

They had admittedly been governed by the feeling that something must be done to mitigate the sudden and acute crisis regarded as inevitable, with an increase of unemployment entailing doles on a scale likely to wreck the budget and so to threaten at the outset the stability of the mark just achieved.

Credits were, however, granted too profusely and too generally. Not only did they enable the new businesses of the inflation period to continue in existence; they were an incentive to general selling on credit. Until the end of 1923 "cash in advance" had been demanded both by manufacturers and wholesalers; now long terms of payment were demanded and received by wholesaler, retailer and even the consuming population.

Shops prepared to grant long credit have done excellent business; the others remain empty, as the general pennilessness prevents the making of cash purchases. But only the latter shops will, in the long run, continue to exist. An appalling indebtedness is already to be found among wide quarters, particularly among salaried officials and employees.

The present credit inflation is likely soon to lead to an economic disaster—much worse than that which was feared at the beginning of this year. The Reichsbank and the Rentenbank recently had to stop granting further credits and even to call in old ones. The first effect of this has been the numerous failures of bankers which are now occurring daily. There will follow insolvencies in industry, wholesale and retail trade. The crisis of stabilization, artificially delayed, is one to be experienced.

STATE OFFICIALS LEAVE SAO PAULO

GOVERNOR OF BRAZILIAN CITY FLEES BEFORE REBELS

Revolutionists Now in Entire Control, According to Despatch to Washington

WASHINGTON, July 11. — The governor of Sao Paulo and other state officials have withdrawn from the capital, which is entirely in the control of revolutionists, a dispatch to the State Department today from Consul Heeborle in Sao Paulo declared.

The dispatch was described as the first official information from the centre of revolt to reach this government. It gave no further details except that protection of life and property had been promised.

BUENOS AIRES, July 11.—The Brazilian rebels control Sao Paulo, the state government has been deposed and the revolutionary junta, headed by General Rondon, has formed a temporary government, according to reports from reliable sources received by La Nacion.

The advices confirm previous reports of an uprising in the state of Parana, and declare rebel forces from that state are marching to the aid of the insurrectionary movement.

'Quake Registered at Washington

WASHINGTON, D.C., July 11.—An earthquake of pronounced intensity was recorded today at Georgetown University. It lasted from 3:09 to 5 p.m., with the maximum intensity between 3:48 and 3:56 o'clock. The estimated distance from Washington was 7,500 miles, Father Tondor, the director, said, but the direction was undetermined.

Liberals Have Narrow Escape From Defeat

OTTAWA, July 11.—A bill providing for government inspection of Canadian banks passed its final stage in the House today and now goes to the Senate. There were several Progressive amendments, and in one instance it looked for a time as though the government would be defeated. This was on an amendment by Garland, Bow River, providing that loans by banks in excess of ten per cent of the paid-up capital could not be made without the unanimous approval of the directors. Conservative and Progressive leaders alike voted in favor of the amendment, and it was only defeated by 69 to 57, twelve votes from the opposition side (eight of them Conservative) going to the government.

WESTWARD THE STAR OF EMPIRE TAKES ITS WAY

OTTAWA, July 11.—For the first time on record exports of Canadian wheat via the port of Vancouver have exceeded the exports via the port of Montreal. For the ten months ended June 30, 1924, the wheat going out from Vancouver amounted to 50,691,096 bushels, as compared with as export for the same period at Montreal of 47,262,196 bushels.

ABSENTEE VOTE MAY MAKE CHANGE

COUNTING OF BALLOTS STARTS HERE ON MONDAY

Liberals Hope to Gain Seat in Vancouver, Where Count Begins Today—Several Ridings Crucial

Counting the absentee vote polled in the recent election, which vote the Government is hoping may change its present minority of seats into a bare majority, will begin here and in the Province generally next Monday. In Vancouver, and in one or two other ridings, the count will start today.

What difference, if any, the absentee vote will make to the present standing of the various parties, will probably not be known for several days after the count begins. Under the provisions of the Election Act, the first duty of the returning officers will be to make an official count of the local vote, and the absentee votes will not be looked at until that has been done.

The present standing of the parties, subject to the official count and the absentee vote gives the Liberals 20 seats; Independent Liberals, 3; Conservatives, 18; Labor, 3; Provincial Party, 4.

Vancouver Situation

In two constituencies, Vancouver and Fort George, the Liberals have

Some Colonist Sunday Features

Remember Lot's Wife?

For 4,000 years or more, the woman who was turned into a pillar of salt has been a proverb. Now, through the latest archaeological developments, science has verified the old tale. Sodom and Gomorrah, the Wicked Cities, have been found at last. In Sunday's Colonist, Dr. Melvin Grove Kyle, Egyptologist and archaeologist, who followed the difficult trail to the old forgotten places, tells the story of the discovery and its significance, and proves that the Bible and science agree.

Jutland Mystery Ended

The Battle of Jutland demonstrated Britain's sea might as did no other engagement of the Great War, and yet the story of the terrible conflict between the world's greatest battle craft has always been somewhat of a mystery. The official accounts lacked detail and graphic description. But up in the maintop of a dreadnought a soldier was watching, a soldier who possessed powers of vivid narration. His story appears exclusively in this paper tomorrow, along with many other special feature articles.

ARBITRATION IS NOT APPROVED

M. Herriot Tells Deputies of Efforts to Have British Premier Change His Idea of Default

DECLARE CHEQUERS TALK BINDS NEITHER NATION

Powerless on Question of War Debts and Could Only Appeal to Spirit of Equity in Recent Interview

PARIS, July 11.—The joint text drawn up in Paris by Prime Ministers MacDonald and Premier Herriot during the interview in connection with the inter-Allied London conference reports all the progress that has been made up to the present toward an accord between France and Great Britain, the French Premier declared before the Senate today, explaining his negotiations with the British Prime Minister. He said that the Chequers interview bound neither country.

Senator Dausset, who preceded M. Herriot, declared that the Dawes plan surely reduced Germany's debt to the Allies and that France consequently was justified in asking a reduction of her inter-Allied war debts. He asked the Premier if he was taking steps in that direction and also whether he has in view an early funding of the war debts, without which the stability of French currency was impossible.

M. Herriot answered that he was powerless on the question of the war debts and could only appeal to the spirit of equity of the Allies, which he had done at Chequers. He agreed with Senator Dausset that it was impossible to stabilize French currency before the debts which were hanging over the country were disposed of. But he added that he had no other means of action than repetition of the argument that in the common fight into which the Allies had put their resources in common, France was the heaviest loser.

Debt to America

Senator Raymond Poincare, former Premier, interrupting, said that the Americans, when they were ready to ask for payment of the sum owing to them, would surely propose arrangements running over a considerable number of years, "and as long as we continue to pay, Germany must be made to continue to pay us."

The inter-Allied debts ought not to be settled mathematically, but justly, M. Herriot added.

The Dawes plan, he said, would continue to be called "the Dawes plan," in honor of the "most devoted and disinterested of the experts."

He thought, however, that the Bonar Law proposition of January, 1921, offered better terms.

The French Premier expressed the hope that the American members of the reparation commission would be able to take full membership, as was originally provided for, but he said he would continue his efforts to get Mr. MacDonald to abandon the idea of arbitration on the question of declaring Germany's default.

SEEK TO BENEFIT BANKRUPT FARMER

BANKING COMMITTEE PROPOSES CHANGES IN ACT

Would Assist in Securing Agriculturists' Release From Order in Western Provinces

OTTAWA, July 11.—The passing of amendments to the Bankruptcy Act of special application to farmers, was recommended unanimously by the Commons Banking Committee this morning.

Under the existing law it has been found in the West that it is difficult for the farmer to get release under a bankruptcy order, as the courts have held that he must put up $200 as security for the fees of the trustee before he can take advantage of the Act. Under the recommendation of the committee, in provinces when a debt adjustment officer has been appointed by the province, a farmer may take advantage of his services without fees, though it is provided that he "shall be entitled to his lawful disbursements."

Need Not Keep Books

Another difficulty under which farmers have been laboring in regard to bankruptcy is that the courts have been unable to grant release unless the farmer had kept books. This it is proposed to remove by exempting the farmer from this requirement.

At present Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta are the only provinces which have appointed debt adjustment officers, but the proposed legislation provides that it will apply to farmers in any province which takes such action in the future. The recommendations being made to the House are founded on the report of a subcommittee of which Dr. Matthew McKay, of Renfrew, was chairman.

After the adoption of these recommendations the committee wound up its proceedings for the session.

Treaty as to Greenland

CHRISTIANIA, July 11.—The Foreign Office announced today that the treaty between Norway and Denmark in regard to East Greenland, was signed at Copenhagen on Wednesday and became effective yesterday. The treaty is intended to prevent the possibility of a dispute between the two nations in the future over their respective interests in East Greenland but it provides for dealing with possible controversies.

CLOSER CHECK NOW ORDERED

Premier King Informs Commons That Matter of Japanese "Wives" Will Be Taken Up With Tokio

SAYS TENSE FEELING WITH U.S. BE RECALLED

Canadian Commercial Agents Will Take Advantage of Situation to Push Trade, He Declares

OTTAWA, July 11.—Premier King informed the House of Commons tonight that the admission of Japanese "wives" to Canada has been taken up with the Japanese Government. He thought the Canadian Department of Immigration could exercise closer scrutiny in this regard than had been the case in the past.

The Canadian government was not admitting Japanese contract laborers and did not intend to, but he pointed out that the feeling between the United States and Japan at the present moment was "somewhat tense" and that Canada ought to take cognizance of that circumstance.

"I believe the government of the Japanese is friendly toward us," Mr. King declared, "and that if our commercial agencies will take advantage of the psychology of the situation there is a chance for Canada to develop immensely the trade between the Dominion and Japan. We are endeavoring to secure by diplomatic methods what perhaps our friends to the south of us have despaired of obtaining in that way."

A. W. Neill, an Independent member from Alberni, urged cancellation of the "gentleman's agreement" between Japan and Canada under which the admission of Japanese to the Dominion is limited.

Discussion turned to immigration generally during consideration of an estimate for $750,000 for salaries for the Department of Immigration.

INDIFFERENCE OF POLICE CRITICIZED

HANOVER WROUGHT UP OVER CONFESSIONS OF SAILOR

Admits Killing So Many That He Cannot Recall Names as Crimes Occurred Rapidly

HANOVER, Germany, July 11.—While popular indignation over the alleged indifference of the police to the case of Frederick Haarmann, confessed mass murderer, is growing, the sailor himself is taking his situation with calmness and poise and is asking to be beheaded "as I deserve to be." "I don't remember the names of all my victims," he told in an interview today. "You see they came so fast that I really did not have a good chance to get well acquainted with them."

He recalled having slain not less than a dozen boys and young men, and was quite certain there were many more whom he did not recall.

Frantic Parents Appeal

Hundreds of letters are arriving daily from all parts of Germany, in which frantic parents report the suspicious disappearance of members of their families and ask the police to search for possible traces of them among Haarmann's belongings.

The room in which the "modern Gilles de Rets" slaughtered his victims is situated on the top story of a tenement house facing the river Leine. The bodies of the slain persons were thrown into the river, the bottom of which is now being dragged for further evidence.

SEVEN FATALITIES IN EASTERN CANADA

Ottawa Reports Violent Deaths During Day Taking Place in Sections of Dominion

OTTAWA, July 11.—Four drownings, and three other fatalities were reported today from various points in Eastern Canada, four of the deaths occurring in the vicinity of Montreal.

Edgar Beaumcer, of Cape de la Madelina, Que., was drowned while bathing. At Bauce Junction, Que., Paul Grenier, 15, swam out beyond his depth and was taken with cramps.

E. Jones, 22, of Liverpool, a cabin steward aboard the liner Andania, was drowned when seized with cramps while swimming in the canal at Montreal with a number of shipmates.

Victor Tetrault, 6, was instantly killed when a high power wire fell on him at Montreal. His mother, who ran to his rescue, also came in contact with the current and was rendered unconscious. She is in a serious condition.

L. M. Ross, 28, fell off a steamer at Peterboro and was drowned.

Struck in the side by a portion of a chain which broke while he was assisting in a barn raising, Joseph Ripley, 65, of Lyndhurst, Ont., received injuries from which he died.

Mary Janes Alice Boucher, seventeen months, was burned to death when fire destroyed the home of Napoleon Boucher, Hull, Que., this morning.

Seattle Trapshooter Dead

SEATTLE, July 11.—Hugh Fleming, aged 55, well known in state trapshooting circles, died suddenly at his home here today.

PREDICTS ERA OF CHEAPER WIRELESS

Mr. Marconi Addresses Roman Audience and Foreshadows Great Things From Improvement

ROME, July 11.—William Marconi, inventor of wireless, described before an audience on Thursday in the historic Capitoline Hall the recent achievements in wireless, especially the new system patented by the Marconi engineer, Franklin, and predicted an era of cheaper wireless communication.

Mr. Marconi told of experiments which showed that a station using 12 kilowatts power under the new system had had better results than with 200 kilowatts under the old system. It was possible, he said, to communicate between England and St. Vincent, Cape Verde, with stations of one kilowatt power. He related experiments which had been made in communicating between England and America with waves 90 metres in length instead of those of thousands of metres as usually used.

WOULD ELIMINATE DUPLICATE POLICE

CHIEF CONSTABLES' CONVENTION HEARS OF SCHEME

Propose to Establish Districts and Do Away With Federal and Provincial Forces in Cities

OTTAWA, July 11.—Duplication of police forces, municipal, Provincial and Federal would be done away with in a scheme taken into consideration by the Chief Constables' Association of Canada at their 20th annual convention which opened here yesterday. Under the scheme sponsored by Chief Crabb, of Welland, Ont., all forces would be merged by the establishment of police districts involving the doing away with separate forces for all municipalities under 25,000 population, and the practical elimination of Provincial and Federal forces. The scheme was referred to the executive for report. Chief Crabb complained that the country was suffering from not too many policemen but too many police forces. There was a terrible lack of cohesion and coordination. Local jealousy between forces was common, he said.

Chief of Police Chris H. Newton, of Winnipeg, president of the association, in his presidential address expressed regret that municipal, Provincial and Federal governments, in their desire for economy, were all seeking to reduce police forces at a time when crime was rampant in the country.

In his opinion, Chief Newton said there were too many laws and too much overlapping of laws. Too much notice was given to reformers who wished to experiment on the public without regard to the liberty of the individual.

He urged the formation of parole boards in each province and the use of a secret code between police forces.

WALTER MUIR HANGED AT VALLEYFIELD

New Yorker Convicted of Killing Companion Last September Pays Extreme Penalty of Law

VALLEYFIELD, Que., July 11.—"Always think of me, as I will be watching and praying over you until you join me in heaven," read part of a letter written by Walter Muir, 21, of New York, to his mother, Mrs. May Muir, shortly before he was hanged here this morning for the murder of Henri Laviolette during a quarrel about a dog at a local tavern last September.

Owing to the bad feeling that the case has created, the town looked like an armed garrison from Thursday, and until Friday morning provincial police, heavily armed, patrolled the streets within a radius of a mile from the jail, but no untoward incident occurred.

Long Drawn Out Fight

Muir, whose death terminates a long drawn out fight by influential persons and societies in New York and Canada to obtain a reprieve for him, walked the 25 steps to the scaffold with a steady step and when he glanced down he smiled at those present.

Muir's mother, a blonde-haired woman in the early forties, was his staunchest defender throughout the long legal fight. When the final appeal to the courts and the Ottawa authorities had failed, Mrs. Muir sent a long telegram to the Secretary of State at Washington begging intervention. She followed her son in an automobile when he was in the baggage car of a New York Central train, handcuffed to a provincial detective, en route from Montreal to Valleyfield yesterday, and spent the evening with her boy. She stood in the park opposite the jail while the execution was carried out this morning.

GRAIN COMMISSION COSTS OBJECTED TO

Members Question Vote of $125,000 on Account of Recent Investigation

OTTAWA, July 10. — Opposition from individual members of the House of Commons developed tonight to the passing of a vote totalling $125,000 for expenses of the Royal Grain Inquiry Commission. Following an explanation from Hon. J. A. Robb, who stated that the vote must be passed to permit the government to assemble bills and accumulate information asked for, the item carried. An item of $15,000 for preliminary work on the new government elevator at Prince Rupert, and one for $425,000 for the continuation of construction of a government elevator at Edmonton, also carried.

Sir Henry Drayton opposed the Prince Rupert expenditure. Minister of Public Works King said, knowing the country well, he felt in recommending construction of the elevator it only served the potential growing grain country between Prince George and Prince Rupert. Altogether some $900,000 of the supplementary estimates were voted during the late night session, which ended at 1:15 a.m.

Little Hope of American Accepting Appointment

London Times Points Out That Premiers MacDonald and Herriot's Decision to Seek United States Aid in Administering Versailles Treaty Is Policy of Despair, as Congress Absolutely Refused to Become Party to Reparations Pact

LONDON, July 11.—The proposal of Premiers MacDonald and Herriot to appoint a United States representative on the reparation commission when dealing with possible German defaications under the experts' report is a subject of further comment this morning, but there is little confidence that such an appointment is likely.

The Times says the suggestion "is rather like the counsel of despair, since it is difficult to imagine the United States Government in the present circumstances could think of reversing its declared policy with reference to the Treaty of Versailles and all its organs."

The Morning Post says: "It is absurd for Europe to look to America unless to put forward a business proposition. The Americans are business people, not idealists. If Europe means business then America will come in, whoever wins the presidential election, and the only way in which Europe can do business is by an understanding between Great Britain and France."

The Westminster Gazette asks: "How can we expect the United States to supply a member on a commission which is bound up with a treaty which she refuses to endorse? It seems incredible that anyone should expect the United States to take up such an anomalous position as the new suggestion implies."

Referring to the appointment of an American as a possibility, The Daily Mail says: "We may reasonably hope that his vote would be given in favor of adequate payment by Germany, seeing that this country, as one of the results of the war, is paying the United States one thousand million pounds."

The Daily Express says it is hoped the United States will agree to the proposal and that it is held there is no reason why she should refuse to participate in the reparation commission when the experts' report and the German loan are under consideration. The diplomatic correspondent of The Daily Telegraph assumes that the Washington Government would not sanction United States membership on the commission, and says:

"The alternative of calling in the agent-general for reparations, who under the Dawes scheme is to be an American, is a questionable device, seeing that he is a subordinate of the commission and could hardly act as arbitrator when, owing to his office he might be found in the position of a complainant."

Premier MacDonald receives some remarkably warm commendation from the opposition press upon his Paris trip.

"He has saved the conference, prevented an open disagreement between Great Britain and France on the eve of the conference and made it possible to go on with the work preparatory to application of the experts' report," says The Times.

The same credit is given him by The Morning Post, The Daily Mail and The Daily News, but it is stressed that the situation is full of difficulties, and that while for the present there is no reason to assume that the conference will fail, it certainly is not to have an easy task.

Surface Benefits Little Short of Miraculous Says Ex-Premier of Australia

SPOKANE, July 11.—W. M. Hughes, former Premier of Australia, here on his fourth trip over the United States, last night expressed himself as impressed with the surface benefits of prohibition, which he characterized as "little short of miraculous." "My impression," he said, "is that nationally, socially and economically, prohibition has caused a transformation that is little short of the miraculous."

NATIONAL WOMEN'S LEAGUE CONVENES

Meeting at Edmonton Discusses Problems in Connection With Work of Junior Bodies

EDMONTON, July 11.—Mrs. W. H. Lovering was re-elected by acclamation president of the National Catholic Women's League, and Hamilton, Ont., her home city, was chosen as the city of the 1925 convention at the closing session this afternoon.

Problems as to the work of the Junior Leagues came under discussion at the morning session of the National Women's League convention. Apparently difficulty has been experienced in some places in securing the co-operation of the juniors. With a view to overcoming this, a committee on junior work presented recommendations which were adopted. Outstanding among these was the recommendation that juniors be distinct sub-divisions of their own, of equal standing to any other sub-division in the diocese, and subject to district sub-division by-laws. The scope of the work will be unlimited, but juniors will be urged to take up the Girl Guide movement, church extension work and Child Welfare, and to co-operate with the national executive as far as possible.

Following this, discussion centred in Girl Guide movement and ways and means whereby this could be incorporated in the work of the Catholic Women's League.

Several resolutions were dealt with and it was decided to recommend formation of study clubs in leagues with the object of studying principally Catholic doctrines and the attitude of the church on public questions, and afterwards of studying civics.

PLUCKY DETECTIVE SECURES PRISONER

In Spite of Wound Winnipeg Officer Pursues Alleged Thief and Handcuffs Him

WINNIPEG, July 10.—Two city detectives, Sergeant Frederick Batho and Robert Frayn, were shot and wounded, and Percy Moggy, nineteen years old, who did the shooting, received a bullet in the knee in a sensational gun fight which started in the branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, North Main Street, and ended in a blind alley one block north of the bank this afternoon. The gunman, alleged to be wanted by the police on several robbery charges, was accosted in the bank when he attempted to change stolen foreign currency.

"Take your hands out of your pockets," demanded Sergeant Batho when he was questioning the man.

Commences Firing

Moggy immediately drew a revolver and commenced firing, the second shot hitting Batho, who fell with a bullet in the shoulder. Continuing to fire, Moggy escaped from the bank, closely followed by Frayn. As they entered the alley the fourth shot hit Frayn, but he continued the pursuit and, after a struggle, handcuffed his man. During the struggle Frayn fired his revolver, hitting Moggy in the knee.

Early this evening reports from the hospital said that all three were resting quietly and that their condition was favorable. Frayn, the most seriously wounded, was reported in "fair condition."

$75,000 Jewelry Robbery

NEW YORK, July 11.—Three men, unmasked and armed with pistols, yesterday entered an upper Broadway jewelry store, lined the five occupants against the wall of a back room and escaped in an automobile with $75,000 in jewelry, mostly diamonds.

PREMIER DUNNING IN HOME TOWN

Leader of Saskatchewan Cabinet Visits Scenes of Boyhood and Receives Welcome

LONDON, July 11.—Charles Dunning, Premier of Saskatchewan, yesterday visited the scenes of his boyhood and was given a cordial welcome by the mayor of Leicester, who also held a reception in his honor. Mr. Dunning is a native of Croft, near Leicester, and worked in Leicester as a boy before going to Canada.

Replying to speeches of welcome, Premier Dunning spoke of the pioneer in the Canadian Western provinces and also referred to immigration into that country. There was no room, he said, for immigrants to pick their jobs. He understood there had been regrettable allusions to the emigration of the young manhood from Great Britain, but England should not forget that emigration from Britain had built up a most useful league of nations under the British flag. At present the Continent of Europe was clamoring at the gates of Canada asking only to be let in, but the attitude, he was sorry to say, of many going out from England was "What will the government do for us if we go?"

LITTLE ENTENTE OPENS CONFERENCE

Meeting of Minor League Signatories at Prague to Discuss Programme of Assembly

PRAGUE, Czecho-Slovakia, July 11.—The conference of the Little Entente, opening here today, is to deal with a number of questions, the most important of which are:

The relations of the member states with their neighbors, notably as concerns the financial reconstruction of Hungary and Austria.

Questions figuring in the programme of the next assembly of the League of Nations, as well as of the admission of Germany to the League and the military control of former enemy states.

Limitation of armaments and the treaty of guarantee proposed by the League of Nations.

Botulism From Eating Olives Claims Four and Four Others May Die

BILLINGS, Mont., July 11.—Botulism caused from eating ripe olives, attending physicians assert, resulted in the deaths of Mrs. Paul Ache, wife of Paul Ache, prominent oil operator of Pittsburgh, Pa., their son, Paul, jr., and Thomas C. Gillespie, Yale student, whose home was in New York City. Four other persons are under treatment here suffering from the same illness.

FINE BLOOMS SEEN AT SUMMER SHOW

ANNUAL EXHIBITION OF GARDENERS' ASSOCIATION OPENS

Entries Reach Total of 250—Non-Competitive Displays Arranged by Nurseries

With entries totalling nearly 250 in all classes, the first annual Summer flower and vegetable show of the Victoria and District Gardeners' Association was opened yesterday in the basement of the Arcade Building. The display, although suffering from the dryness of the season, was of fine quality, and the officials of the organization were well satisfied with the exhibition. Mayor Hayward gave the opening address and complimented the exhibitors on the magnificence of their entries, and throughout the afternoon numerous visitors examined the displays with interest and pleasure.

Owing to the insect pests accompanying the drought of recent weeks, the cut flower section did not have as many entries as had been expected, but the absence of the abundance of blooms anticipated was unable to destroy the general excellence of the show. Sweet peas were much to the fore, and apparently the strongest floral line. In the vegetable class, garden peas had the same prominence. Fruits were practically confined, owing to the earliness of the season, to cherries and such varieties. Berries, save for strawberries, now virtually over, were displayed extensively.

Special Features

A number of special features of non-competitive nature were on view as the result of the cordial co-operation of various nurseries. A. J. Woodward & Sons, Brown's Victoria Nurseries, and the Rockholm Gardens all had large exhibits of this character. The choice flowers of the Woodward and Brown establishments were much admired, while the miniature rock garden designed and exhibited by Mr. John Hutchison, the well-known collector of Alpine plants, of the Rockholm Gardens, was the centre of much interest. The latter exhibit was perfect in every detail, and even included a tiny Alpine lake. A fine showing of rock plants in blooms of many colors formed a beautiful background for the rockery.

Other distinctive exhibits were the rose display from the gardens of the Parliament Buildings, arranged by Head Gardener Partington, and the non-competitive entry of Mr. George Robinson.

During the course of the afternoon His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor paid a visit to the exhibition and examined the display with interest. He was delighted with the exhibits and invited the committee to remember him next year when they would be seeking financial assistance preparatory to holding another show.

Amateurs Win

It was noticeable in this show that amateurs displayed very fine exhibits. The prizes did not go to the professionals as in the past. The cup presented by Mr. F. W. Francis was won by Mr. G. T. Williams, who obtained eight firsts and four seconds, securing a total of 32 points. Mr. A. Turrell was runner-up with 17 points.

The Mayor was welcomed on arrival by the president, Mr. W. J. Edwards, who addressed the spectators and spoke of the interest aroused in gardening by such exhibitions and the beneficial effects they had on the gardens of the citizens. Mayor Hayward, opening the show, congratulated the committee in charge on the wonderful display, wished the show success and hoped that next year the City Council would see its way clear to donate a larger grant to the association for such a laudable purpose.

Mr. F. B. Robinson, chairman of the committee in charge, thanking the Mayor for his interest, hoped the Mayor in his new capacity as legislator would use his influence to help the association financially. Some day, he said, the Mayor might be Premier. He warned those present of the menace of the Oriental to gardeners, saying that the yellow men were threatening to make further inroads at the present time in this occupation.

As the concluding feature of the opening ceremonies, little Miss Joan Boulter, daughter of the secretary, presented Mrs. Fraser, sister of the Mayor, with a bouquet of sweet peas.

The show will conclude tonight with an auction sale of the vegetables at 9 o'clock. It will be open to the public all day today from 10 a.m. onward. The band of the Boys' Naval Brigade will be in attendance at 3 p.m.

The committee in charge of the arrangements was: Frank B. Robinson, chairman; F. E. Boulter, secretary-treasurer; A. Green, R. MacKenzie, Joseph Unwin, G. T. Williams and W. J. Edwards, president of the association.

Band selections were given during the afternoon by the Firemen's Band.

The vegetable judges were: J. Marshall, Experimental Farm, and E. M. White, Department of Agriculture, and the flower judges: F. A. Saunders, Empress Hotel gardener, and Wm. Darling, Government House gardener.

Judging began at noon today, and the results were:

COUNCIL CENSURES CITY MILK DEALER

TESTS SHOWED POSSESSION OF SOILED DAIRY PRODUCT

Second Case Delayed Until Health Board Secures Legal Ruling—Claims Licence Was Sought

Censure of the City Council, sitting as a board of health yesterday afternoon, was placed on J. Donegan, local milk distributor, who appeared in the Council Chamber to show cause why his licence as a milk dealer should not be suspended. Tests made of milk being delivered by Mr. Donegan on June 28 showed that the fluid contained dirt, and it was recalled that a former test made last November showed the same result.

Mr. Donegan attempted to prove that the sample of milk tested by the city inspector was not of the supply of milk he was delivering on June 28, but the testimony of the inspector, corroborated, was accepted by the board of health and the vote of censure followed. Mr. Donegan was warned that another infraction of the milk by-law would lead to the immediate suspension of his licence.

Mr. E. Macqueen, 2743 Quadra Street, appeared before the board to explain a letter of protest he had filed with the health department against his conviction in the city police court on June 24, when he was fined $10 on a charge of selling milk without the necessary city licence. He claimed, in his written statement, that he had never sold milk in Victoria, and that the summons served against him should have been sent to his wife. In any event, he contended, the action taken against him was palpably unfair as he had taken every step in order to secure a licence for the sale of milk by Mrs. Macqueen, and the animals supplying the milk had been twice tested by Dr. White, the animal inspector.

His wife had applied for a city licence on June 1, he said, and had been told by Dr. A. G. Price, city health officer, to have her animals inspected. Inspection was made on June 14 and again on June 16, and the animals passed. He had asked the inspector why Dr. Price had not issued a licence and he (Dr. White) had replied that because his herd was so small it was hardly worth while to issue him a licence. On June 16, he continued, about four hours after the last inspection, he had received a summons to appear in court to answer a charge of selling milk without a city licence.

Mr. Macqueen asked the board for permission to further explain his case verbally, but because the board of health members were not sure about their power to legally swear a witness and to take testimony from him, he was not permitted to do so and the case was postponed until an opinion could be secured from the city solicitor.

POLLUTION OF WATER CHARGED IN COURT

Information Laid in Connection With Fishing at Cabin Pond Leads to Investigation

A charge of polluting the reservoir of the Esquimalt Waterworks Company at Cabin Pond came up in the Provincial police court yesterday morning. In the absence of Mr. Woodley Beal, against whom the charge is laid, the case was adjourned until Tuesday after the evidence for the prosecution had been heard. In the meantime a warrant will be issued against the accused in order to insure his attendance at the next sitting.

Mr. E. B. Halsall, secretary of the Waterworks Company, testified that there was a barbed wire fence around Cabin Pond, which was a reservoir in connection with the company's delivery of water.

Mr. Linton, the caretaker, testified that on July 1 he had seen three men at the place inside the fence. They were fishing and had a dog with them. The dog evidently had been in the water. They had some fish on the side and some others that were evidently too small to take away had been thrown back into the pond. They were dead and were floating.

When he spoke to one of them about trespassing, the reply had been that no notice was up. He did not know the men, but took the number of the car they used. The owner of the car has been changed.

It was explained by Mr. R. H. Pooley, who appeared for the Waterworks Company, that this was not a trivial thing. It was necessary to take action in order that the water supply might be kept pure. The company was only guarding against the pollution of the supply.

Herring flower is used quite extensively in Norway.

Trotzky Urges Soviet to Own Mercantile Marine

MOSCOW, July 11.—Minister of War Leon Trotzsky, Commissar Leonid Krassin and other Soviet officials at a great public gathering last night, urged Russia to create her own mercantile marine in order to take care of the country's growing exports, avoid dependence of foreign owned vessels, strengthen the Red Navy in time of war and secure lower freight charges. Trotzsky, who, in spite of his recent defeats within the party councils, seems to retain a firm hold on the masses, received a tumultuous reception.

There were forty-three automobiles in the building, most of which were destroyed.

FEDERAL LOANS

At the present session of the Federal Parliament authority has been secured by the Government to issue loans to the amount of $300,000,000. All this money is not wanted at once, but governments always consider it desirable to have a reserve of bond issuing power. Canada, however, will float a loan in the Autumn to retire $108,000,000 of the Victory Loan of 1918, which matures on November 1. On May 1, 1925, a sterling loan of £5,000,000 falls due, and on December 1, next year, a war loan of $42,000,000. Both of these latter are presumably covered by the authority for borrowing now being given to the Government. The question that arises in connection with this borrowing is whether the loans should be made in Canada or in the United States. It is said that money in both countries is abundant for such investments. The American Government is borrowing at 2¾ per cent, but Canada cannot borrow at this rate, although it is certain that the maturing Victory Loan bearing 5½ per cent can be replaced by bonds which will not carry more than 5 per cent.

There is always a strong argument in favor of a domestic loan, particularly because the interest on such will be disbursed at home. There is another side to the question, however, which has to be considered. It is held that the Victory Loans launched in Canada, while indicating in a striking way the country's financial ability, have had the effect of stopping investments in other legitimate enterprises. In other words, money has been absorbed in such gilt-edged securties to an extent which has made it non-available for industrial development within the country. It is true, and there is pleasure in knowing that it is true, that Canada has exhibited in recent years an unexpected capacity to absorb government bonds. From the standpoint of the Dominion, the cost to the country of the war was practically financed at home. Indeed, out of a total funded Dominion debt of $2,443,686,000, an amount of $1,896,753,000, or 77 per cent of the total, is payable in Canada. This means a distribution of some hundred million dollars annually in the country, which is a comfortable consideration.

In the matter, however, of the new loans that must be made to meet maturing liabilities it has to be borne in mind that better terms will be secured in New York and that making the loan on the American side will mean the bringing of new money into the country, which would relieve a situation that now obtains here, namely the difficulty of obtaining loans on mortgage. In dealing with this loan, or any loan to be made in the immediate future, The Montreal Gazette points out that there is not so much free capital in Canada as formerly, that trade lacks buoyancy, and that the ability of the country to absorb $200,000,000 of bonds is uncertain. The Gazette hints at the possibility of any new loan being issued partly in Canada and partly in New York. What should be guarded against in the operation of Federal finances is anything that will make money tighter in the country than it is at present. On the contrary, the policy should be to budget in the matter of loans of the future in a way that will ameliorate the financial situation within the Dominion.

FRUIT GROWERS' HANDICAP

A question of pregnant moment to the small fruit industry of the Dominion has been raised by The Toronto Mail and Empire. It is true it is raised with peculiar reference to the crop of Ontario, but it is nevertheless applicable in this Province as well, and it is a condition against which our fruit producers have had to contend for many years. The Mail and Empire says that the tariff on small fruits is not high enough to give fair protection to the Canadian producers. It points out that two cents a pound is the rate of duty on blackberries, gooseberries, raspberries, strawberries, cherries and currants, but that this rate does not check the import of these fruits from the United States. The point is that in the United States crops mature at an earlier time than similar crops do in Canada. Thus imports are coming in here well in advance of the time the local product is ready. The consequence is that the public appetite is very often sated by the time the Canadian berries are placed on the market, and the result is that the home-grown berries do not obtain the preference which they should obtain over the imported fruit.

It seems that insufficient concern is shown for the small fruit industry of the Dominion. There must always be a demand for the imported products because people will buy strawberries, for instance, at the earliest date possible, and they can be produced in the United States weeks before they are available on this side of the border. The point is that the admission of the American product is too easy. The tariff is too low, with the result that by the time the Canadian products are placed on the market the public appetite has been appeased, and thus our own growers suffer. They suffer, too, because great quantities of American small fruits are brought to this side for canning purposes and are offered at low prices that put fruit, often superior, but produced in Canada, out of the competition. The fact is that the competition to which our growers are subjected is unfair. The United States growers are permitted to reap the harvest of the demand for small fruits in this country before our own growers have their products to offer. This is one emphatic instance in which a Canadian tariff should operate to the advantage of the Canadian grower, and, in its incidence, it should take into consideration the difference in time during which the products of the two countries are on the market.

SENATE ECONOMIES

In the decision it has reached respecting the branch line programme of the Canadian National Railways, the Senate of Canada has rendered a service to the country. It has cut down proposed expenditures aggregating some $13,500,000, a large part of which it was proposed should be devoted to what may be called "political" lines. In doing this the Senate has performed a task which should earn the gratitude of the country. One of the branch line bills rejected was that for a road from Sunnybrae to Guysboro, N.S. The expenditure proposed was $3,500,000, and it was a politician's road that was involved. Roads which came under the same category and which have been shelved by the Senate were that from Radville for 115 miles in Saskatchewan, and the Turtleford branch in the same Province. The latter was to have been 102 miles long, involving an outlay of $2,300,000.

Without a doubt the management of the Canadian National Railways will be glad because of the Senate's action. That management will now be relieved of responsibility for some branches, the operation of which would only have added to the already substantial deficit on the system. The Senate deserves congratulations on its work. It has again justified its existence by saving the country large sums of money.

UNEMPLOYMENT DOLES

Labor members of the British Parliament are beginning to acknowledge that the solution of the problem of unemployment is not as simple a one as they thought it when they had nothing to do but criticize governments which they opposed. They are growing restless over the failure of their own government to make any forward steps. One of their number, Mr. Sanderman, of Manchester, proposes that the recipients of the State dole under the age of 50 should be compelled to undergo three hours' physical training every day. That proposal would have moral and physical advantages. It is difficult, however, to see how a Labor Government would enforce physical exercise for that would be tantamount to the conscription of labor, and Labor opposes conscription. It would take an army of officials, too, to see that upwards of a million unemployed, scattered all over the country, engaged in any exercises that might be decreed. The suggestion of the Socialist member for Manchester is hardly feasible, but that it should have been made indicates a new current of thought running through the minds of the Labor Government's supporters on the question of unemployment and the dole system. Truly responsibility has a chastening influence.

La Presse says: "The Prince of Wales has postponed his visit to South Africa and abandoned many other projects as circumstances have exacted. But when it is a question of visiting Canada, the time is always opportune, His Royal Highness knowing in advance that nothing will mar his plans here. We heartily rejoice to know that it gives such pleasure to the heir to the British throne to visit the Dominion, and are likewise glad that he is proud of his title, 'a Canadian gentleman farmer'. The Prince will be welcome whenever he comes here."

This country is to be represented at the Inter-Allied Conference on the Dawes reparations report. This conference, which arises out of the Treaty of Versailles, is on a wholly different footing to the conference at Lausanne, which resulted in the treaty to which that town gave its name. Canada is a creditor of Germany. She is, therefore, concerned with the methods and means whereby reparations will be paid. She is entitled to a voice in any decisions reached and she will have such a voice by being represented at the coming Inter-Allied Conference.

Note and Comment

By R. B. D.

We are told that Canada's day of nativity was celebrated with great enthusiasm this year in the United States. Probably more firecrackers and bombs may have been exploded on the 4th of July than on the first of that month, but genuine emotion is not always most fittingly and most feelingly expressed by explosions and other loud noises. Our dearly beloved cousins uttered paeans of thankfulness on the First of July because on that historical date all "nuisance taxes" were abolished in the United States.

* * *

The taxes in question were appropriately named nuisance taxes because they were imposed on a multitude of small things in common use, and were the cause of much irritation and annoyance to the sovereign people. Furthermore those nuisance taxes were obnoxious in their effect—or in their "incidence," as scientific taxgatherers in this country who are always on the lookout for some way of "broadening the basis of taxation" say—they cost more money to collect than they yielded in revenue, as some forms of taxation in vogue in this country also do.

* * *

We suppose there is no hope of the abolition of nuisance taxes or of any other taxes in this country. The public services must be carried on, and they cannot be carried on unless taxes are provided for the payment of those who carry them on. Furthermore, the Premier has often told the people that they are merely getting the things they asked for, and neither he nor his Government can be blamed for the consequences. We have a suspicion, however, and we believe the public shares our suspicion, that the public is getting a trifle more than it asked for, if not in service, at least in the cost of service. There is a suspicion abroad that if the governing powers were not surrounded by such a multitude of political retainers the high cost of government could be reduced and all nuisance taxes and several other taxes which are no less of a nuisance could be abolished. In point of fact, we believe that the suspicion referred to has become a public conviction, and no government of the future will be secure until it furnishes some tangible evidence of a determination to carry out the wishes of the people.

* * *

We know other ways of reducing taxation have been suggested. The Minister of Lands has told us on several occasions that the only way in which taxation can be reduced is by taking measures for increasing the population. Well, it appears that the population has been pouring into Canada at one door and streaming out at another door. We are taxing ourselves to bring people in, and the high rate of taxation is driving them out.

* * *

That appears to be the situation. Consequently there is something wrong with the machinery. It is not working smoothly. If Mr. Pattullo were to cast a scrutinizing eye over the wheels he might discover a stray spanner or wrench or broken cog in them. There really is something more radically wrong with the situation than the disinclination of our young men to go out into the wilds and scratch for precious metals, clear the land and make it blossom as the rose. The public is getting tired of being lectured and scolded by men in authority for its alleged lack of energy and enterprise. Our young men are willing enough to seek employment. They are so eager indeed to find something profitable for their hands to do that they are emigrating in thousands annually to the United States, where many of them are finding employment at no great distance from home in industries which draw their raw material from the forests of British Columbia. Are our Governments, Dominion and Provincial, absolutely impotent in the face of such a state of affairs as that?

Some day a New Zealander may stand on the ruins of London Bridge and sorrowfully and philosophically survey the ruins of a great city. But it will not be a New Zealander of the present or of many future generations. London is growing faster than it ever grew. It has a population of many millions, and millions of transients are pouring into it and increasing its wealth in an amazing degree. All roads do not now lead to Rome; all roads lead to London, the great centre and attraction of the world. The Wembley Exhibition is attracting more visitors than any "International" show ever held in any part of the world.

* * *

This is an amazing and perplexing state of affairs to many people. Some say it is due to prohibition in the United States. Others attribute it to unsettled conditions on the continent of Europe. The people of the United States now number nearly one hundred and fifteen millions. They are a very wealthy and a very restless people. They have the means to travel around and see the world. Great Britain, with London as the heart of it, is the magnet that attracts them. The bounds of individual freedom have not been circumscribed there. That wonderful little land, with its Labor Government, its castles, its cathedrals, and other peculiar institutions, modern and ancient, and its persistent prosperity though surrounded by depression, is one of the curiosities and enigmas of the world. Besides, the relations between the great little nation of the Old World and the great big nation of the New World, are now so cordial that the situation is worthy of close and critical examination.

Canada's Story Day by Day

By BLODWEN DAVIES

July 12

Since 1679 the parish priests of the Roman Catholic church in the Province of Quebec have collected tithes from their parishioners, amounting to one-twenty-sixth of the grain grown on their farms. The priests still have legal sanction to do so. As time went on and the French-Canadians began to sow flax, tobacco and root crops and to trade in these things, the "cures," as the priests are called, attempted to extend their tithing privileges to include these very profitable additions to the farmers' produce. They placed their plea before the Superior Council at Quebec, but that body decided against the church's plea. Still determined to assert their rights over their increasingly prosperous parishioners, the priests carried the quarrel to the English king. On this day in 1707 their appeal was denied. The court decided against them and confirmed the judgment of the Council in Canada, and their tithing power was restricted to its previous proportions. This tithing is one of the curious customs surviving from the early days of French occupation.

IN MEMORIAM

With reverence tread, for in God's acre lies
Our fairest flow'r, in her eternal sleep.
How strangely oft, the thing we love most dies,
And we are left in loneliness to weep.

Her spirit pure as cloudless Summer skies,
So eager help and pity to bestow,
The loyal, steadfast gaze of her sweet eyes
With trusting friendship set the heart aglow.

In childhood, wistful, yet how wisely good!
Then girlhood clad with dignity and grace,
Until the day when love and motherhood
With radiant happiness inspired her face.

Could we but hear her buoyant footsteps fall,
The joyous echoes of her laughter ring!
Ah, in our very impotence, to all
These memories how shrewdly we cling.

Now death has taken all we held most dear—
A life of golden dreams to realize.
Whilst others, with their task complete, are here,
And long to be released from mortal ties.

Public School System

Sir:—In continuation of my letter which appeared in The Colonist a week ago, allow me to say that the Bible is a book of religion, and deals with the body and soul, the present and the future state of man. You naturally ask: What is religion? My answer is plain and simple. Religion is not pious godliness as some suppose, but a recognition of the existence of God, and a conscientious relation between man and God, with an expression of that relation in human conduct. If my definition of religion is correct, the Bible, of all books, is the most important, and it is a crime to debar it from the public schools of British Columbia.

I recently read that a prominent teacher, in trying to justify the exclusion of the Bible from the school curriculum, said: "We teach religion all day. We teach it in arithmetic by accuracy, in geography by breadth of mind, in history by humanity, in astronomy by reverence." An atheist might say that, for it is a violation of the logical process arising from an erroneous conception of what religion is.

The Bible is a wonderful book, the Book of books—the greatest book ever written, even apart from its spirituality. The School Board are asking for suggestions how best to develop the character of pupils attending the public schools. Here is a book that has done more for the development of noble character than any other agent that can be named, yet it is shut out of the public school curriculum. What has given us civic and religious liberty? What has given us the highest aspirations? What has given us the Sabbath, with all its benefits? What has given us hospitals for the sick, orphanages for the neglected children, homes for the aged, the poor and the needy? I answer without fear of successful refutation—the Bible, with its inspiring influence.

When the Bible gets its proper place in the home and the school, a revolution shall be the result. A practical acknowledgment of the fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man shall follow, war shall be outlawed, and our patriotism and loyalty to our ideals shall be unalloyed. The Bible had a conspicuous place in the educational system of Scotland which was established three hundred years ago by John Knox, the great Scotch reformer. Has the Bible in the public schools of Scotland injured the people? There is only one answer, an emphatic No. That nation would be a greater curiosity than Noah's ark which had truly been injured by the Bible being in its public schools, and the principles of Christianity taught the boys and girls.

You ask, if the teacher were an athiest who denies the existence of God, or an infidel who denies the Scriptures and Christianity, how could he instruct in religious education? This is a Christian country, and the nature of our institutions is that of Christianity, based on the Bible, and no athiest or infidel should be appointed to teach the children of the country or of Christian parents, for the boys and girls of today will be the men and the women of tomorrow to carry on the church and the State. In a well regulated democracy the majority rules, but as regards the Bible in relation to our public schools a small minority rules, and the Christian majority falls into line, and practically writes over the door of every public school: "The Bible cannot enter here." You ask, if that is the case, are our public schools in the Christian Province of British Columbia, the schools in which our children are taught, "Godless schools"? nOe shudders at even asking such a question.

As nobody reads a long letter, I must stop here, for this one is too long even now. In my next I will deal with what I think is the best method of teaching, not sectarian or dogmatic theology, but the principles of Christianity in our public schools, with the Bible as our class book.

CHARGE OF HAVING DRUGS IS DISMISSED

Frances Garnham Given Liberty in Police Court—Contention Was No Proof of Possession

Frances Garnham, charged with having narcotic drugs in her possession, was acquitted in the police court yesterday morning. During the recess from the day before, she had secured counsel, and Mr. R. C. Lowe appeared on her behalf. The case hinged on the question of possession. Mr. Lowe contended that the evidence as given by the assistant chief of police was not such as to warrant the conclusion being reached that the morphine was in possession of the accused.

For the convenience of the court he admitted that the material was morphine. He, however, pointed out that the detectives were there in the house waiting for the postman to arrive with the parcel. The woman, while she signed for the parcel, had, according to the evidence of the assistant chief, never taken the parcel into her possession. She had in fact, according to the evidence that was given, refused to take it and said it was not for her.

Magistrate Jay, however, showed a reluctance to dismiss the action on this ground, and it was only after Mr. Lowe had presented the danger of a miscarriage of justice in convicting on the evidence that was produced that he finally dismissed the case.

Mr. Lowe argued that in view of the seriousness of the crime as it was regarded under the statutes, with no appeal, there should be the clearest evidence before any conviction were registered. He pointed out that an innocent person might be made the victim of a plot on the part of someone else and receive goods that were not known to be of an illegal character. In this case, even after signing the receipt of the parcel, suspicion that something was wrong was aroused and the accused, though innocent, refused to receive the parcel.

SHAWNIGAN LAKE AND MOUNTAIN

Far down the long lake lies for many a mile
Still as its islands and encircling hills,
Deep steeped in peace of morning's opening smile,
A peace that mountain, lake and forest fills.

The lake receives upon its moveless breast
The green-clad slopes, the mountains and the skies,
Freed from the troubling winds, it now can rest,
A beauty smiling back to beauty's eyes.

How beautiful it is! How calm and pure!
A spacious theatre of a strange bliss,
A balm upon the fevered mind of man,
A viewless spirit's reconciling kiss.

When first the golden shafts illume the green—
The brilliant verdure of this lofty nest—
In that still hour of radiant quietness
Stay for a time the spirits of the blest.

All quietness and peace and wondrous bright
As paradise o'erflowed this scene so fair;
The vision of the sin-cured souls of light
Seen white-winged angels floating in the air.

Could man but free him from his tower self,
That muds his mind and ofttimes drives him mad,
His vanities and sloths and lusts and pelf,
Some morn he'd find the world all glory clad.

English Saloon Reform New Inns Eliminate Bars

LONDON, July 11—With the opening in and around London of a number of inns run along Continental lines, the movement from within the liquor trade, looking toward reform of saloons as the best means of fighting prohibition, is beginning to take shape here.

A brewery company is leading the way. It has opened a string of inns where the sale of drink is not prominent, where the sale of drink is not the primary object. In all of these places the bar has disappeared, and nothing is served across the counter. Waiters bring food or drink, or both, to tables.

Licensing magistrates are taking a sympathetic attitude toward the reform movement and a number of the clergy who are not prohibitionists have attended the opening of the latest inn constructed. The movement has gained the support also of many artists. Indeed, the signboard for one of the new inns was painted by Sir Arthur Hope, of the Royal Academy.

PROVINCE WILL TAKE PART IN CONFERENCE ON UNEMPLOYMENT

The Provincial Government will be represented at a Dominion conference on unemployment, to be held in Ottawa shortly, it was announced by Premier Oliver yesterday.

Mr. J. D. McNiven, Deputy Minister of Labor, will probably represent British Columbia, it is understood. The Vancouver City Council has also been invited to send a delegate. The conference will discuss plans for handling unemployment next Winter.

Announcement of the Federal Government's determination to prepare for the task of looking after the unemployed now was contained in advices received by Premier John Oliver yesterday from James M. Murdock, Minister of Labor. The Federal Government will pay all expenses of the conference.

The Indians—Lieut.-Col. Powell has just returned from a tour of the central portions of the Mainland, and it has more resembled the triumphal march of a Roman conqueror than an official tour of the Indian Commissioner. Think of being escorted several miles on his way by a guard of honor composed of three hundred braves on horseback! Everywhere the Commissioner seems to have been well received, and results of his visit seem to have been satisfactory.

Sooke Road—We hear that a road to Sooke district is about to be built by day work for the Government. The contract seems to have been played out with our friends across James Bay.

London to Experiment With One-Way Streets

LONDON, July 10.—New York's example in providing one-way traffic streets will be followed as a tryout for relieving traffic congestion here next week. The experiment will be limited at present to the main streets in the theatre area, and to the hour from 10:30 to 11:30, when the theatres are emptying.

This plan has been adopted by Chief Constable Bassom, London's new traffic controller, as a means for avoiding congestion due to private cars and taxicabs, after picking up passengers at the theatres, swinging around in face of the normal flow of night traffic.

One side of the one-way thoroughfares will be used for ordinary traffic and the other side will be reserved for theatre traffic. Each theatre will have its private parking space, in which police will guard the cars.

Switzerland is the only European country without a seaboard.

Saanich Bear Plays Lots of Pranks, But Is Real Companion

Bruno, Who Arrived in Victoria in Canned Milk Box About Two Years Ago, Enjoys Wrestling With His Master—Plays With Automobile Tires and Sleeps in Barrel—Enjoys Weekly Bath

EATS ICE CREAM CONES AND ALL-DAY LOLLYPOPS

As a bear, Bruno is rather effeminate in some ways. He eats ice cream cones by the approved juvenile method of licking them, and in his hands, "all-day suckers" suffer a lingering death, but when he joyously stands up on his hind legs and wrestles his master around the yard he demonstrates the fact that just because he takes his bath in a metal washtub, luxurious living has not sapped him of his hairy strength.

Bruno is the pet bear who lives at 3301 Tennyson Avenue, the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Hopkins. He arrived about two years ago in a Pacific Milk box and far from being a sorrowful wild thing pining for the forest, he is a happy young brute who has all sorts of chances to bolt over a fence but who prefers to live on porridge and Yorkshire puddings, play with old automobile tires and indulge in rough-and-tumble tactics with a man he could lay low with a single blow.

Mr. Hopkins was the engineer on a steamer on Kootenay Lake when the mate of the boat went up a tree with a gunny sack and brought down three cinnamon bear cubs, giving one to the captain, and one to the engineer, and keeping the third one for himself. Bruno, by the way, is the only one of the three alive today, the other two being shot because they were too wild.

Up in the Rafters

Mr. Hopkins put his cub into a Pacific Milk box with slats over it and shipped the animal to his wife in Victoria. When she and her brother, Mr. Jack Hatherill, went down to the C.P.R. here to get the new pet, they discovered that it had escaped from its box and was perched on the rafters of the freight shed. Bruno was finally and forcibly returned to its confinement and taken to its new home on Tennyson Avenue. Mrs. Hopkins is very fond of animals and did not mind the bear. Although her husband warned her by mail to wear gloves in handling Bruno, because of his sharp claws, she never found this necessary.

Bruno at this time was only about four weeks old and had to be fed with a spoon. Mr. Hatherill used to stand the little fellow up in the pantry and wash his face and hands. Bread and milk was his staple food, and he slept in the basement and ate the spiders off the windows. Later he was moved to a new and unoccupied chickenhouse, and from there was transferred again to the yard where he was chained up and where he tried to tear the shingles off the house.

Bruno's days have been filled with all sorts of amusing pranks. He used to stand up under the kitchen table, hacks into the barrel and succeeds surprisingly well in making the container suffice for the greater part of his bulky form. The bear also contrives to cover himself with the sacks which are provided.

Plays With Tires

Three automobile tires are the toys with which Bruno delights to play. One of them once lay in the neighboring yard, but Bruno spotted it through the fence and yearned so much for it that it was finally supplied to him. He gets inside the tires as if he were adjusting a lifebuoy, and plays with them in his big paws for long periods at a time. He also possesses a large iron ring and a piece of chain once used to fasten him up with. He delights to get the ring on his arm like a bracelet and goes around proudly with the bit of chain hanging. At night the tires and other toys are collected by Bruno who gathers them close about his bed but is prohibited by lack of space from taking them inside the barrel. In the hot weather he sometimes sleeps outside of the barrel, taking out his sacks and laying them inside one of the tires to provide a bed.

When the writer visited Bruno, Mr. Hatherill went into the pen and played with the big pet. Around and around the enclosure the two romped. One moment Bruno might be sitting upright on his haunches, boxing, and in the next he and his master might have their arms wrapped around each other, wrestling vigorously. Bruno showed his affection by licking Mr. Hatherill's face. Barney, the family dog, was on hand and apparently very jealous over the attention which Bruno was getting. When he was let into the open pen he nipped at Bruno's neck, and the bear would good naturedly shove Barney aside with a gentle paw. The two are good friends, but Barney is too rough, Mrs. Hopkins says, and she fears that some day Bruno will become angry and mete out fatal punishment, for Barney's nips have drawn blood.

Four Meals a Day

Bruno is well fed. He has four meals a day, the last one late at night. Bread and honey, bread and syrup, porridge with plenty of sugar and milk on it, and Yorkshire puddings are among the staple items of his menu. Water, in his opinion, is only to wash with, and if he is given water to drink he will put his feet in the dish and knock it over. The result is that he is given milk to drink, but it is greatly diluted with water. However, anything that looks like milk appears to satisfy the bear.

It might be thought that if Bruno was given a small quantity of anything he liked very much he would eat it as quickly as possible, but as a matter of fact he makes it last well. Ice cream cones find favor with him, and he will hold one and lick it just like a child. The same applies to "all-day suckers." Bruno is much too well brought up to chew gum and he refuses to have anything to do with the stuff. He is fond of whipped cream and stewed fruits, will drink beer or home-made wine out of a bottle, cracks nuts, and squeezes the juice out of oranges and leaves the rest.

When Mr. Hatherill came outside the pen, Bruno appeared disappointed and stood up against the wire front, trying to reach out with his arms and his head. It appeared fairly certain that if the bear decided he wanted to get out, the strands that barred his way would not restrain him long. In fact, Mr. Hatherill went back into the pen again in order to prevent Bruno from damaging the structure.

Sunday is the big day in Bruno's existence, because that is the time when he gets loose in the yard to romp with Mr. Hatherill and to have his bath. He knows when Sunday has arrived and gets very impatient until he is released from his pen. When the writer arrived there on a recent Sunday morning, he found Bruno trying to get his door open. Some wire fencing was set up across the yard and Bruno was turned loose in the space between that unsubstantial barrier and the wooden fence shutting off the place from the street.

Lots of Action

From that time on there was plenty of action. Back and forth the bear causing it to rise unexpectedly and without apparent cause. One day he tore the curtains off the kitchen windows. When he got loose he would sometimes climb over the fence into the neighboring garden and there climb a tree. Invective was poured upon his furry young head the day he pulled the clothes off the neighbor's line. He has stolen eggs out of his mistress' basement, eaten apples up an apple tree and broken off branches by exercising from them.

The Stronger the Force of Water the More Bruno Likes It. Here He Is Standing Up in His Bath Tub While His Master Turns the Hose on Him.

Played With Cats

There are no murderous tendencies inherent in Bruno. He wanted to play with cats when he was small and would run alongside them and spank them as they ran. Ducks and turkeys would get out of his dish and he would watch them or try to play with them. Ducks were slow and clumsy and could not get out of the way in time, with the result that they would be bowled over. He tried to be gentle but it was not easy. He would wander among the chickens without attempting to hurt them.

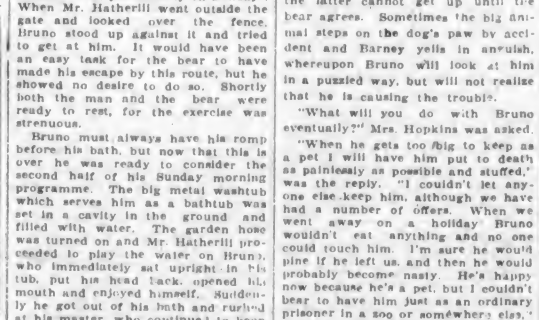

Bruno has always been inquisitive. In the days when he was allowed in the house—he is too big now—he would go about inspecting everything and at the sound of music he would sit upright and sway from side to side. One day he broke open the door of the garage and was discovered inside the engine hood where he had got by mysterious means. Children used to come in and consort with this unique playmate. One day Mrs. Hopkins thought she heard the gate open and close, and investigating, she found a little child sitting down beside Bruno who was licking her face.

When the bear was small Mr. Hatherill took it out on the streets on a chain. Bruno wanted to climb every telephone pole he came to, and actually did mount the one outside the Hopkins' residence and did not descend again until he felt like it. Returning from a walk, Mr. Hatherill would sometimes release the bear from the chain and let him run home. Naturally the appearance of the strange pet in public aroused a great deal of interest.

Bruno now lives in a pen erected in the Hopkins' yard and which has the neighbor's fence for a rear wall and wire fencing for sides, with a wooden roof. A barrel is half buried in the earthen floor and this serves as Bruno's bunkhouse. At night he

It was thought that Bruno was through his bathing when he got out of his tub and shoved it off to one side, upside down, but he returned and sat in the hole in the ground, which was filled with water by this time, and went on with his scrubbing. Being watered with the watering can is one of Bruno's early delights.

"I daren't play with him in his pen any more," said Mrs. Hopkins. "He doesn't mean to be rough, but he is too big and strong now. Several times he knocked me down and stood and looked at me as if he was wondering what it was all about. When I have to go into his pen now to fix his dishes I keep out of his road."

When Bruno sits on Mr. Hatherill the latter cannot get up until the bear agrees. Sometimes the big animal steps on the dog's paw by accident and Barney yells in anguish, whereupon Bruno will look at him in a puzzled way, but will not realize that he is causing the trouble.

"What will you do with Bruno eventually?" Mrs. Hopkins was asked.

"When he gets too big to keep as a pet I will have him put to death as painlessly as possible and stuffed," was the reply. "I couldn't let anyone else keep him, although we have had a number of offers. When we went away on a holiday Bruno wouldn't eat anything and no one could touch him. I'm sure he would pine if he left us, and then he would probably become nasty. He's happy now because he's a pet, but I couldn't bear to have him just as an ordinary prisoner in a zoo or somewhere else."

ABSENTEE VOTE MAY MAKE CHANGE

a chance to win seats by the absentee ballot. In Fort George, Mr. H. G. Perry, Liberal, 899 votes, was defeated by Mr. F. S. Burden, Conservative, 902. In Vancouver, Mrs. M. E. Smith, Liberal, was defeated for fifth member of the constituency by General A. D. McRae, Provincial, by 76 votes. Mrs. Smith, it is conceded, is likely to reveal more strength in the absentee ballot envelopes than the Third Party leader. It is not likely, however, that the absentee vote in Vancouver, where there are said to be 3,000 absentee votes, can make any other difference to the results declared on the election day, when four Liberals and two Provincials were returned.

In the four other ridings where the count of election day was close enough for the absentee vote to reverse the standings, any change will be to the benefit either of the Conservative or Provincial parties.

Other Ridings

In Alberni, Major R. C. Burde, Independent Liberal, 745 votes, defeated Mr. C. A. McNaughton, Provincial, 731, by only fourteen votes.

In Richmond-Point Grey the tussle is between the two opposition parties, Mr. G. A. Walkem, Provincial, received 2,042 votes, against 2,009 for Col. W. W. Foster, Conservative.

In North Vancouver the fight is between Mr. G. S. Hanes, Independent Liberal, 1,139 votes, and Mr. R. F. Cruise, Provincial, 1,125.

The only other constituency where a change by virtue of the absentee vote is barely possible is the Islands. There the respective candidates stood on election day as follows: Colonel C. W. Peck, V.C., Conservative, 556; Dr. J. W. McIntosh, Provincial, 533; Mr. M. B. Jackson, K.C., Liberal, 505.

No Difference Here

While officials of the Provincial Secretary's department expected yesterday that the count of the absentee vote throughout the Province would be generally completed by Monday evening, Returning Officer W. P. Marchant, of Victoria, is of opinion that the count here will not be completed for several days. There is no possibility, however, that the standing of the candidates here will be materially changed, the four Conservatives having majorities over the Liberals ranging from 1,500 to 2,000.

Mr. Marchant will sit at 9 o'clock at room 1005 B.C. Permanent Loan Building, on Monday morning to open and tally the absentee votes cast it was announced yesterday.

Candidates and their agents are invited to attend the tally. It should be explained that the ballots are in sealed envelopes. The name of the voter, the voter's number and the polling division he is registered in, are noted on the envelopes. It will be necessary for the staff of the returning officer to check these against the voters' list.

After that work is completed the envelopes will be opened and the ballots placed in one box, out of which they will be counted, in the presence of the candidates or their representatives, as is done in the regular election count.

EDMONTON, July 11. — Three thousand dollars in cash and some jewelry was looted from the safe of the Standard Bank branch at Onoway this morning. City Hall Activities in Brief

Mayor Hayward was authorized by the Council yesterday to deal with the question of licences for agents attending the forthcoming convention of medical men in Victoria for the purpose of selling surgical instruments. It was pointed out that at a similar convention held in Vancouver, three such agents had been asked to pay licence fees of $50 each, and upon their refusal to do so had been fined $25 each.

Victoria will not send a representative to the 1924 convention of the Union of Municipalities which is to be held in Windsor, Ontario, August 7, 8 and 9. Ald. Woodward suggested that as there was to be a labor conference at Ottawa about the same time, a representative of the city could profitably attend both. A motion was passed, however, that the city spend no money for such a purpose.

The legislative committee of the City Council was authorized to represent the city at the sessions, on Wednesday and Thursday of next week, of the Provincial Educational Survey Board. The meetings will be held in the executive chamber, Parliament Buildings.

The sum of $200 was granted by the Council to assist in defraying the expenses of the James Bay Athletic Club in sending crews to Vancouver to participate in the annual regatta of the N.P.A.A.O., to be held July 17, 18 and 19. Ald. Woodward protested. "If the Council cannot find the money to send a delegate to the convention of Municipalities and to the Ottawa Labor Conference, it can't afford to give $200 to sportsmen to attend a rowing regatta," he said.

Mr. Arthur Hall, who wrote the Council warning of the dangerous state of a section of the sidewalk on Menzies Street, and giving notification of his intention to present a bill for medical attendance given his wife who fell and injured herself as a result of the sidewalk's state of disrepair, will be notified that the Council does not accept responsibility or liability for the accident. Ald. Harvey said that the section of sidewalk referred to by Mr. Hall had been heaved from its bed by the action of the roots of trees, and he suggested that such boulevard trees should be removed. Ald. Sangster remarked that Victoria contained hundreds of boulevard trees which were damaging sidewalks and sewers and water mains. He thought that all such should be destroyed.

Agreement has been reached with Mr. F. B. Pemberton relative to a right-of-way for the twelve-inch water main running between a point at the intersection of Richmond Avenue and Gonzales Avenue, and work of installation will be continued immediately so that the condition of low water pressure in the Foul Bay region will be remedied.

Renewal will be made by the board of works of a six hundred and fifty foot section of the three-plank sidewalk on North Park Street. The estimated cost is $170.

Works improvements on Clawthorpe Avenue will be started at once. They are estimated to cost $1,200.

An effort of Ald. Woodward, chairman of the parks committee, to have accepted a recommendation of the parks superintendent to relieve two old men, employed at Beacon Hill Park, of further duty, and to authorize the finance and parks committees to consider a plan to provide for the two old gardeners' future, was defeated by a vote of the Council, and until further action is taken, the gardeners will retain their jobs.

WALL OF FLAMES DEFIES FIGHTERS

5,000 ACRES BEST B.C. TIMBER ARE RAGING INFERNO

Lumber Tracts Near Powell River Ablaze—Fires Sweep Oregon and Washington Forests

VANCOUVER, July 11.—One of the largest and most destructive forest fires that British Columbia has ever experienced is raging in the Powell River district. While the big paper plant and the town are safe, millions of feet of valuable timber are being burned.

Five thousand acres of some of the best timber the Province possesses are a raging inferno. A wall of flame seven miles long is sweeping northward toward Powell Lake. Two hundred and fifty men are fighting fire in that district, but the flames are beyond human control. Six hundred men on the Powell River plants are to be enlisted in fire fighting work tomorrow.

$150,000 Worth Destroyed

PORTLAND, Ore., July 11.—Three serious forest fires and several minor blazes continued in the timbered areas of the Northwest yesterday.

Fire in the Santiam forest near Albany, Ore., was reported entirely beyond control today. More than a thousand acres have been swept, and a change of wind through the night sent the flames raging up the northern slopes of Brietenbush Canyon toward the North Santiam. Damage to the Hammond Lumber Company's logging equipment will reach $150,000, it is estimated.

Fires Wreck Big Damage

SPOKANE, July 11.—Fires sweeping nearby inland entire towns and forests yesterday and early today wrought heavy damage, it was reported here. Fighters have failed to control general forest blazes, one of which is threatening equipment and trackage of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad near St. Maries.

Damage amounting to $6,000 was done by a fire in Barry, Wash., when the postoffice and adjoining buildings were destroyed. A loss ranging between $7,000 and $9,000 resulted from a fire at Nine Mile, which destroyed a garage, four automobiles, an ice plant and several small buildings.

Fire which threatened the surface property of the Callahan, Success and Tamarack mines in the Coeur Talenes, resulted in 150 miners being called out to save the property, while 200 men were rushed into action against a fire sweeping logged-off land near Chewelah.

A fire starting on the Spokane Indian Reservation threatened Hunters, Springdale and Chanokane Creek.

Pine Lumber Burns

GRANTS PASS, Ore., July 11.—More than 1,000,000 feet of high-grade pine lumber burned early today when the Walker planing mill east of here was destroyed by fire. The total loss approximates $50,000, of which $20,000 was suffered by the Walker planing mill and $30,000 by various sawmill men of the country who owned the pine lumber. Defective wiring was given as the cause of the fire.

Pays $111,000.00 FOR VIOLATING SHIPPING LAWS

BOSTON, July 11—For alleged violation of the shipping laws, forbidding vessels under foreign flags to engage in commerce between American ports, a fine of $111,000 was placed by customs authorities here today against the British steamer Voltaire, which last Monday brought 500 members of the Philadelphia Lodge to the National Convention of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks.

THROUGH RATES ARE COMPILED ON COAST

Bills of Lading From Old Country Ports Will Aid British Columbia Shipping in Future

Compilation of a tariff covering through rates on eastbound business from Pacific Coast ports to all parts of the Old World has just been completed by the American-Hawaiian Steamship Company.

According to officials of this steamship line the business on this route has been confined to some extent to direct lines, but under the new system shippers are in a position to secure information to ports served by direct lines.

The schedule also gives the necessary data on through rates to practically all foreign ports on roads operating out of the Atlantic seaboard ports.

Not only is the American-Hawaiian Line issuing through bills of lading to the Old World, but several other lines are seeking business on this basis in British Columbia ports.

PIRATES BOARD SECOND VESSEL

CAPTAIN IS MURDERED AND HIS BODY THROWN OVERBOARD

Bootleggers Direct Raid in Retaliation of Cutting of Rum Prices by Foreign Ships

NEW YORK, July 11.—Following a Halifax report that the French steamship Mulhouse was boarded off the New Jersey coast two weeks ago by rum pirates, who took a cargo of liquor valued at $500,000, prohibition officials here today received word that a second ship also was boarded by pirates, who killed the captain and threw his body overboard. The identity of the steamship was not revealed, but it was said to be also of foreign register.

The raids were directed by one of the biggest bootleggers in the country, according to the report, in retaliation for the cutting of rum prices by the foreign ships.

The liquor seized in the raids was brought to New York for marketing, said the report. The seizure on the second ship was said to have consisted of whisky, brandies and cordials, valued at more than $250,000.

French consular authorities at Halifax are investigating the raid reported by Captain Ferrene, of the Mulhouse, which put into Halifax on Tuesday.

Passenger With Big Sum of Money Slain On Chinese Vessel

The story of a murder at Woosung on a vessel bound for Hankow was reported in the Shanghai Chinese press, the details apparently first coming to light when the steamship reached its destination.

It is said that when the SS. Kung Woo was on its way out at Woosung, a passenger, believed to be in possession of a large sum of money, was missed, and upon search being made, his dead body, cut in four parts, was found in a box in his cabin.

Three men who were occupants of the cabin of the passenger who was slain were placed under arrest.

BRITISH SQUADRON BOUND FOR PANAMA

Naval Fighters Bid San Francisco Good-Bye—Three of Ships to Visit Halifax After Jamaica

SAN FRANCISCO, July 11.—The British Special Service Squadron, headed by H.M.S. Hood, the world's greatest battleship, steamed from San Francisco harbor today after a four-day stay marked by a dazzling round of entertainment.

After bidding the pilot boat good-bye, the big British fighters stood out for the Panama Canal. There the squadron will divide, the Hood, the battlecruiser Repulse and the Australian cruiser Adelaide continuing through the canal to Jamaica and the four light cruisers Dragon, Dauntless, Danae and Delhi setting out for a trip around the Horn.

After Jamaica, the Hood, Repulse and Adelaide will visit Halifax, and after a short stay there will start out on the final leg of the round-the-world cruise to England.

Japanese Immigrant Drops $1,400 Roll in Sea as Vessel Docks

Yoshimatsu Fujita, 25 years old, a Japanese immigrant to America, who returned to Yokohama recently by the R.M.S. Empress of Australia, lost a purse containing $1,400 in the sea just before the boat docked.

The young Japanese immigrant, who was hastening back to his native country to seek a bride and hurry back to America before the new immigration bill went into effect on July 1, almost fainted when he lost sight of the purse containing the fruits of his labor in America. The money was dropped into the sea when the boat had just come to the pier.

Fujita at once reported the accident to the Yokohama marine police and asked for assistance to recover his money from the water. The purse, however, has not been found.

BRITISH SHIPYARDS LEAD THE UNIVERSE

Increase in Construction Shown by Lloyd's Register—U.S. Drops in Shipping

NEW YORK, July 11.—Shipbuilding in the United States during the quarter ended June 30, decreased to 103,665 gross tons, as compared with 119,000 tons in the previous quarter, placing this country fifth among the world nations in this industry, said a statement issued yesterday by Lloyds' Register of Shipping.

Increases during the last quarter were recorded for Great Britain and Ireland, Germany, France and Italy, making the world's putput 100,000 tons greater than at the end of the previous quarter.

The volume of world shipbuilding is slightly higher than a year ago, according to the statement, with most of the gain in British shipyards, which during the last quarter reported 1,516,746 tons as compared with 1,473,000 in the previous quarter.

Germany ranks second with 340,749 tons under construction, June 30. The tonnage reported for other nations on June 30 was as follows:

France, 144,240; Italy, 127,773; Holland, 96,453; Japan, 66,564; and British Dominions, 34,935.

The time used is Pacific Standard, for the 150th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish High Water from Low Water. Where blanks occur in the tables the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

The Height is in feet and tenths of a foot above the average level of lower Low Water.

Equimalt—To find the depth of water on the sill of the drydock at any time, add 14.0 feet to the height of High Water as above given.

C.P.R. STEAMSHIP SETS NEW RECORD

EMPRESS OF FRANCE CLIPS 12 HOURS OFF FORMER TIME

Maintains Average Speed of 20.16 Knots Per Hour—Brings Films of Olympic Games Opening

QUEBEC, July 11.—Crossing the Atlantic Ocean in five days, eight hours and ten minutes, the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of France established a new record for the St. Lawrence route, clipping twelve hours off her former record. The average speed maintained by the liner in making the crossing was 20.16 knots per hour, although there were spots when she made twenty-one knots.

One of the features of the France's recent trip was the fact that a package of film containing pictures of the official opening of the Olympic Games at the Colombes Stadium, France, was dispatched from Paris to Cherbourg by airplane so as to save time in shipping to New York.

The plane made connections with the steamer, which was waiting for it at the pier in Cherbourg, and within a few minutes from the time the package had been handed over, the steamer was under way.

They were landed in Quebec this morning and rushed to New York. Four hundred and forty-four passengers were brought out by the steamer and were dispatched to their respective destinations by special trains.

Along the Waterfront

The C.G.M.M. vessel Canadian Freighter arrived here early yesterday morning from Vancouver, and spent the greater part of the day loading 222 barrels of sperm whale oil and a consignment of lumber and general. The consignment of whale oil, which was brought down from the Consolidated Whaling Company's West Coast station, is the first to be exported from Victoria this year and represents 110 tons. This shipment is destined for Liverpool. While in Vancouver, the Canadian Freighter loaded an almost capacity cargo of lumber and grain, amounting to 8,000 tons. This is the first time that a C.G.M.M. freighter has left so heavily laden in the United Kingdom service.

Picking up her passengers at this port, the Blue Funnel liner Protesilaus docked at the Outer Wharves yesterday morning, and cleared an hour later for the Orient. Somewhat out of the ordinary was the call of the Protesilaus on the Coast this time. These Holt ships on the Oriental run usually go to Vancouver from Seattle, coal at Union Bay, and go to sea from there via Victoria. FOUR BOTTLES CORRECTED SERIOUS STOMACH TROUBLE

Oliver Mathieu Spent Small Fortune Trying to Help Wife.

"I can tell the world that my wife and myself think Taniac is the best medicine that ever was made," recently declared Oliver Mathieu, well known railroad man, 73 Delinelle Street, Montreal, Quebec, Canada.

"In 1908 my wife strained her stomach in such a way that she became a physical wreck. She suffered such intense stomach pains at times she could not help crying, and got so nervous and weak at one time she could not lift hand or foot. "We had paid out money for treatment and medicines so long without results that it looked like her case was hopeless. But, finally in 1922, after my wife had suffered for fourteen years, I bought her Taniac, and four bottles of the medicine restored her health and strength completely. She gained ten pounds, and has not had a sick day since. In fact, she is the picture of health, and I will back up this statement to anyone."

Taniac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over forty million bottles sold.

Of this consignment, 15,000 cases were consigned for transshipment to Mexico.

This big quantity of liquor was discharged at this port, it is said, owing to the high harbor rates in Vancouver, while it is understood all liquor for transshipment to Mexico will in future be discharged here instead of at Vancouver.

The Prince Albert has been undergoing some repairs in preparation for her loading today of the 15,000 cases of liquor at this port and her southbound journey.

Fashions and Foibles

By Shirley Sharon

With her befrilled Summer frocks, the young person wears short gloves instead of long sleeves, and follows the present fashion of white kid slippers trimmed with color and worn with "nude" stockings.

Frocks of white swiss dotted with French blue, rose or cherry color are trimmed with tiny frills of white organdy plooted in the color of the dot, or of colored organdy matching the dot. The frills are quite fragmentary but are cleverly arranged so that a very little of them has the effect of a great deal of ruffling. These dresses are adorable in cotton georgette or organdy made entirely of the one material. In crepe de Chine, georgette and taffeta they make charming party dresses.

MISS SMILLIE MARRIES WILLIAM BLAKEMORE

Victoria Girl Becomes Bride of Alberni Man—Pretty Service at Home of Bride

A very pretty, but quiet wedding, with only relatives present, was solemnized Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Nesbitt, 953 South Hampshire, Oak Bay, when their only daughter, Margaret Smillie, was united in marriage to William Lawley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Blakemore, of Alberni, Rev. Thomas Menzies reading the service.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride looked lovely in her handsome gown of ivory mirror satin-georgette, with exquisite lace veil, with which she wore a wreath of real orange blossoms. Her shower bouquet was of Ophelia roses and swansonia.

Miss Maud Tait, the bride's only attendant, wore a sweetly pretty frock of mauve georgette trimmed with ecru lace, and carried pale pink and mauve sweet peas. Mr. William Smillie, cousin of the bride, was best man.

The reception room was beautifully decorated with quantities of Summer flowers; the ceremony being performed under a large white wedding bell. A buffet supper was served in the dining-room, the table being centered with a three-tiered wedding cake, decorated with real orange blossome; pale pink and mauve streamers fell from the chandelier to the corners of the table.

During the evening, Miss N. Nickerson acted as accompanist for Mrs. A. D. Finnley and Miss D. Lawley, who contributed solos.

Mrs. Blakemore traveled in a navy blue charmeuse costume with brown hat and fawn wrap. Mr. and Mrs. Blakemore will spend a honeymoon at Sproat Lake, and later make their home in Alberni. Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. and Miss Blakemore, of Alberni; Mrs. Hutchinson and son, of Seattle, and Mrs. McMillan, of Westholme.

Ladies' Aid, Centennial Church, Nets Good Sum From Big Garden Party

On the afternoon and evening of Wednesday the Ladies' Aid of Centennial Church held a most pleasant and profitable garden party at the home of Mrs. Frank Adam, who, with with W. N. Mitchell, president of the Ladies' Aid, assumed the role of hostess.

Interest in the work of the ladies was evidenced by the large number of friends who gathered from all parts of the city to enjoy the sociability of the hour.

In the evening several musical numbers were rendered by the Salvation Army band, who gave their service gratuitously and whose assistance on this occasion was greatly appreciated.

The effort of the day netted about $100 for the work which the Ladies' Aid is undertaking.

CITY TEMPLE LADIES PLAN GARDEN PARTY

Great things are expected by the ladies of the Victoria City Temple from the garden party to be held next Thursday at the home of Mr. W. J. McKay, Michigan Street. Opening at 3 p.m., the fete will continue until 9:30 or 10 o'clock, with all manner of entertainment supplied. Fortune telling and all the customary features of garden parties will beguile the visitor. At 5:30 p.m. a meat supper will be served.

The proceeds of the fete will be donated to Dr. Clem Davies, pastor of the church, in recognition of the part he has taken in the establishment of the Temple. As the last garden party given by the ladies responsible for this one was attended by between 350 and 400 people, and nearly $300 was raised, it is anticipated that Thursday's function will be another great success.

It costs $4,500,000 annually to man the League of Nations.

THEY TELL THEIR NEIGHBORS

Women Tell Each Other How They Were Helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Woodbridge, Ont.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for female troubles. I would have headaches, backaches, pains between my shoulders and under my shoulder-blades and dragging down feelings on each side. I was sometimes unable to do my work and felt very badly. My mother-in-law told me about the Vegetable Compound and I got some right away. It has done me more good than any other medicine I ever took and I recommend it to my neighbors. You are welcome to use this letter as a testimonial if you think it will help some poor sufferer."—Mrs. EDGAR SIMMONS, R. R. 2, Woodbridge, Ont.

In nearly every neighborhood in every town and city in this country there are women who have been helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the treatment of ailments peculiar to their sex, and they take pleasure in passing the good word along to other women. Therefore, if you are troubled in this way, why not give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial.

This famous remedy, the medicinal ingredients of which are derived from roots and herbs, has for forty years proved its value in such cases. Women everywhere bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Garden Fete Augments Colwood Vicarage Fund

LANGFORD, July 11.—A most successful garden fete was held Wednesday afternoon and evening in the grounds of Mr. and Mrs. Yates.

The fete was opened by Mrs. D. B. F. Bullen, who spoke of the two excellent churches in the parish and the need of a house to match the churches for the vicar and his family, and urged everyone present to do their utmost to bring this about.

At the conclusion of her address, Miss Mildred Peatt presented Mrs. Bullen with a bouquet and a beautiful box of marzipan on behalf of the committee.

Every stall and booth were well patronized, and very little was left at the end of the day. Miss Wilson and Mrs. A. S. Burgess were in charge of the home-cooking and candy; Miss James, fancy work; Mrs. S. Goucher, ice cream; Mrs. G. A. Heal and Miss Marian Goucher, clock golf; Miss E. Scott and Miss H. Scott, spinning jenny; Mrs. W. Rickford, archery; Mr. W. H. Bosworth, Mr. R. F. Waddington, Mr. W. Little and Mr. J. Duke had charge of the Aunt Sally and cocoanut shies; Miss B. Shirlaw and Miss N. Wilson had charge of the cake competition, and Miss M. Pearson, Miss Peatt and Miss C. Haggarty did a roaring business with the junk bottle. The convener for afternoon tea was Mrs. Yates, ably assisted by Mrs. H. Pike, Mrs. G. Fitzgerald, Mrs. H. Parker and Mrs. G. A. Heal.

It was very gratifying to the committee to see so many present from Colwood, Langford, Happy Valley, Metchosin and Victoria.

During the evening a splendid musical programme was rendered by Mr. and Mrs. H. Simpson, Mrs. Bayles, Mrs. W. Griffiths, of Metchosin; Mrs. G. Deaville, Mrs. S. Kelly and Mrs. Thornborrow, of Victoria. The following pupils of Mrs. H. Simpson played some excellent pieces: Misses M. Peatt, A. Simpson, C. Setchfield, M. Smedley, B. Smedley and S. Hincks. Mr. G. A. Heal very kindly loaned his Victrola for the day.

Mr. A. Radford and Mrs. W. Griffiths won the clock golf competition, Mr. C. Wilkinson won the archery, and Miss James and Miss E. Scott won the cake and divided it. Mr. W. Little won the junk bottle prize.

Mrs. E. Sheilds played several waltzes towards the close of the evening.

The committee announces that the parish vicarage fund has been well augmented and are very grateful to Mr. and Mrs. Yates for the use of their home and grounds and the splendid band of workers, including the owners of cars for transportation, and all who by their presence and support made the day so successful.

Water sports and races and games on the green formed the chief features of the day.

ABANDON FLOWER DISPLAY

SOOKE, July 11.—Sooke Women's Institute held its July meeting last Tuesday. A discussion on better schools was the subject of the meeting. The flower display and exhibition of women's work that was to be held in August has been abandoned, and there will be no meeting until September.

GUIDES CAMP OUT

CHEMAINUS, July 11.—During the last two weeks about sixty Girl Guides and Guiders have been camping at Mr. R. B. Halhed's drydock. They came from Cowichan, Duncan and Chemainus, and are having a glorious time boating, swimming and playing the usual camp games. On Sunday there was a church parade to the Church of St. Michael's and All Angels. The vicar held a special service for them in place of the usual one. Rev. B. E. Spurling preached an impressive and interesting sermon.

Before commencing the service the Guide color party marched to the chancel, and while the colors were being received by the vicar, the first verse of "O Canada" was sung. After the service, when receiving the colors back, the first verse of the National Anthem was sung. On Monday about twenty Brownies were guests of the Guides for the day.

ONE YEAR TO LIVE

By John Hunter

THE STORY

A new star has blazed in the theatrical world of Paris. She is La Phalene, a girl of gentle birth—Elise Duchanier—who through misfortune became maid to Lolette, a dancer. The latter's spiteful machinations against her maid miscarry and Elise outshines her.

Elise, sole support of an invalid sister, is warned by the elderly Dr. Lapierre, who loves her, that she has only a year to live unless... gather about La Phalene, including Maurice Brunel, her manager, and Count Mordac. Tom Kendrick, an American of a different sort, whom she met earlier, has left Paris. It is he who has made the deepest impression on her.

Brunel takes her to dinner. She mocks him.

CHAPTER XXIX

Munitions of War

Her decision made, Elise consulted not even Brunel, but set about her task of furnishing her chambers without regard to cost and with the utmost expedition. She had the drawing-room redecorated in pink and silver, very delicate shades, against which she set rosewood furnishings. There were no pictures, and the furniture was sparse, so that the room looked bare, except that the rich blue carpet was plied here and there with cushions—cushions all colored like flame, like the rainbow; cushions downy and softy, round, hexagonal, square.

It was these cushions, arranged in heaps, so that one might lounge on them with ease, that gave the room that touch of comfort of which its bareness deprived it. The lighting was indirect, and it filtered from round the edge of the carved ceiling, its rays made pink by colored glass.

The dining-room Elise found more easy. She provided no table. All meals would be taken on the floor. There were divans set about, low, in the Eastern fashion, and little wheeled stools. The walls of the room were panelled in ebony, relieved by thin white mounting. The ceiling was red, rich red, with two great hanging lamps from Persia providing all the illumination.

The floor, left bare, was polished, and spread with gorgeous rugs. There was not a chair in the room, nor yet a picture. In fact, Elise had neither pictures nor prints, nor mural decorations of any kind throughout the place.

Her bedroom was white. White panelled walls, white ceiling, cream carpet. The bed was white and very low, with arched head and foot, carved richly. The dressing table was a white spinet, its keyboard covered by plate glass, its top profuse with flowers. The only lighting was on this spinet, and that was golden, with gold silk shades over the lamps.

Her maids were easy to get, for she was willing to pay high wages and she chose two pretty girls, much alike, blonde. For the manservant ultimately she had to seek the aid of Brunel, who secured her a giant, six feet two, black as coal and dumb.

During this time she received many presents, and among them were two Alsatian wolfhounds and a little monkey, whom she called Neppo. The man-servant had informed her that his name was Louis, but that being far too ordinary she rechristened him Baba, and informed him of the fact. He accepted the denomination with an expansive grin and no protests.

To Baba she handed over the care of the Alsatians and Neppo, and each morning it was Baba's duty to take all three for an airing in the Champs Elysees, the great dogs walking before him on a double lash. Neppo perched either on his shoulder, or on the back of one of the dogs, with whom he had become remarkably friendly. It was, as Brunel observed, a wonderful advertisement.

Each fortnight she ran down to the coast and saw Marthe, who was slowly gaining strength, and would ultimately, according to the opinion of the famous specialist, whose name Lapierre had given to Elise, be fit to undergo the operation which might be the means of restoring her to an active part in life.

CHAPTER XXX

Sowing the Whirlwind

The months drifted on.

La Phalene was now more than famous. Offers had poured in on her from London and New York. She could have danced in Buenos Aires for a nightly salary such as a great prima donna might ask. Yet she refused them all, inclining only for a moment towards the New York offer, but ultimately refusing to accept it; for still, deep down within her, she clung to the hope that Kendrick might one day return to Paris looking for her.

She still danced that dance which had made her name—The Valley of Hope Forgotten—but now it was augmented by other, more exotic movements, and was only performed by special request.

She had set out to gather about her an army of admirers, and in this she had been successful beyond her wildest dreams. If safety lay in numbers, The glory of Lolette was as nothing beside the effulgence of this new star.

Money passed through her hands like water rushing swiftly over the bed of a steep stream. There were four cars. Her chauffeur in his gray and mauve was the smartest in all Paris.

Yet, despite all this riotious expenditure, despite the lavish display the costly gowns, the wonderful furs, money went every month to the account of Marthe Deuchanier, thousands of francs, tens of thousands of francs, money beyond Marthe's wildest dreams and expectations.

For Elise, in one respect, at least, kept her head.

These men who gathered about her, wealthy, admiring, luxurious in their habits, paid for every smile, for every favor she designed to bestow on them. It was the Count Mordac himself who gave her the Hispano Suiza, with its gray and mauve bodywork to match her chauffeur's uniform, its satinwood interior panels, its luscious upholstery.

Brunel remonstrated with him on the gift, for the two had drawn together again somewhat during this period.

"That woman," said Brunel, "astounds me. Why did you give her that car my friend?"

Mordac shrugged his shoulders. "One pays tribute," he answered ambiguously.

Brunel smiled. "In the hope that there may be an investment locked up, eh? Hear this, my friend. She is beyond us, that woman. She is on a great flood of her own loosing. It is a game for fools."

Mordac smiled. "So that means I am a fool. Well, Brunel, we all have our follies."

Brunel tried to read his eyes, but failed. He told himself that Mordac did not give cars for the sake of giving them.

In fact, probably Mordac alone read Elise truly. He alone realized that she withheld herself from everybody.

Yet the many would disperse. He had seen these things on a lesser scale, before. The lustre of La Phalene's fame would wane. Then the followers would drop off so that the few would be left. Of those few, assuredly the Count Mordac would be one.

And Brunel would be another, for Brunel stood by always because he must.

Mordac wondered if, at the last, it would be as at the first a struggle between himself and Brunel.

Of that third man who had intervened in the beginning—the American, Kendrick—he did not think; he had forgotten him. Yet he filled La Phalene's thoughts.

So the thing crescendoed. It became shrill and devouring. Elise, having started it, found herself gripped in it remorselessly, beyond all hope of escape. Luxury was plied on luxury. Entertainment succeeded entertainment. The newspapers were filled with her doings, her dinners, her moods.

The whirlwind was at its height. The sowing was broadcast, scattered, and only God knew where the seeds were falling.

It could not last. Something must break. It could not last.

Tomorrow—The Princely Lover.

INTERESTING TUNIC EVENING GOWN EXPLOITS PALE FLESH SATIN

Satin in an interesting pale flesh tint is the material used for this evening gown that exploits the tunic. The hip-length tunic shown here is a model most seen in day-time modes, and rather unusual in the realm of evening wear.

The only trimming touch is seen in an embroidered band of orange and bronze that extends down the left side of the tunic.

This would also be effective in white satin with a wide band of silver for trimming.

HOLDING SALE OF WORK

Is Your Hot Water Tap Truthful?

DOES the tap say "HOT" in big letters, then treat you to a stream of cold?

If so, I can help you make it truthful.

In fact, I'll undertake to give you hot water—not merely warm—but HOT. As HOT as you want it for shaving, for dishes, for washing clothes. HOT water in the bathroom, the kitchen, the laundry—morning, all day, night—all the time.

It will not cost you much to make your hot water tap truthful. Gurney Jacket Heaters keep a big tankful of water piping hot with an astonishingly small amount of hard coal. Gurney Gas Water Heaters are also economical. Place the right size Gurney Heater, coal or gas, in your home and you'll have all the HOT water you want. And good, clean Canadians use lots of it.

I'd be delighted to send you our folder on Domestic Water Heaters. It shows and describes eight different types of Gurney coal and gas water heaters. Just fill in and mail me the coupon below.

Yours sincerely,
Holt Gurney

At the Playhouses

PLAYHOUSE THEATRE — Packed houses continue to be the order of the day at the Playhouse Theatre where the tremendous hit "Prehistoric Vaudeville," is playing this week. Every minute of this novelty act is full to the brim of entertaining qualities and turn after turn is accorded an enthusiastic reception. There can be no doubt that Reginald Hincks' remarkable brain is in no way losing its punch, as fresh ideas seem as prolific as weeds in a garden. The matinee this afternoon and two shows tonight will complete a most delightful week. A beautiful woman, forbidden love, yet she provided the inspiration and devotion for a great man to go forth and do great things! Such is the story based on the life of Lady Hamilton which under the title of "The Affairs of Lady Hamilton," is the attraction. You will be charmed by the exquisite beauty of Laine Haid, one of the most beautiful women in the world, in the role of Lady Hamilton; you will be thrilled by the authentic picturization of the famous naval battle of Trafalgar, your heart will be touched by the simple devotion and supreme sacrifice made by Lady Hamilton in one brief moment of happiness with the man she loved.

COLUMBIA THEATRE — Hoot Gibson has contributed something new in the way of screen humor in his latest photoplay, "40 Horse Hawkins," for Universal, which is showing at the Columbia Theatre for the last time today. He convinces one that seriousness of intent can make for hearty laughter without placing a strain on the credulity of the one who laughs. None could be more serious than Hoot as he goes about his multiplicity of duties; first, as the entire staff of the village hotel, and then as entire mechanical force of a village theatre. But every move is a laugh-producer, even though the spectator cannot help but sympathize with this hard-working young man.

CAPITOL THEATRE — "Cytherea," the story by Joseph Hergesheimer, has created a new fad in society. It is the Cytherea doll impersonation. So popular is this novel that there is always one or more to impersonate the doll at fancy dress balls and other entertainments. Mrs. William John Warburton at a recent ball at the Hotel Plaza, New York, proved the sensation of the affair as the "Cytherea doll." Samuel Goldwyn purchased the motion picture rights to "Cytherea" for the George Fitzmaurice production. Alma Rubens plays the role of Cytherea. This is a First National picture and is showing at the Capitol this week.

DOMINION THEATRE — "My Gawd! That man worked fast. Edna must have married a streak of lightning." This is reported to have been uttered by a chorus girl, following the marriage of a chronis to a man whom she had met two hours previously. That's the way they do things in the fastest street in the world, Broadway. This is not an exceptional case, the thing occurs daily. It generally leads to the divorce courts. Similar unbelievable scenes occur in "Broadway After Dark," the screen adaptation of the famous Owen Davis play showing at the Dominion Theatre this week. In this Warner Brothers' classic of the screen are portrayed the hectic lives of sensation mongers who live only for the present moment, and who lead lives as emotional in intensity as the fiercest lights that blaze on the great white way of Broadway.

WOMAN REVEALS PAST TO SAVE FRIEND IN CAPITOL FILM

A woman revealing her own past, baring to the world a secret which robbed her of her good name and imperiled her future, all for the sake of another woman.

That is one of the powerfully dramatic situations in First National's "The Woman on the Jury," which is coming next week to the Capitol Theatre for a week's engagement. It is based on Bernard K. Burns' Broadway success, and was directed by Harry O. Hoyt.

Sylvia Breamer plays the part of the woman who braved the scorn of the world for another, Bessie Love playing the latter part. Both had been the victims of George Wayne (Lew Cody), a "cheater of women" who cast aside his conquests when he had tired of them. One of the women had taken the repulse calmly; the other, facing a serious situation, had brought about a tragic climax to her love advanture.

Fate placed a woman on the jury which was to try her for murder—and that woman was the only person in the world who could save her. How she accomplished this forms an episode of high dramatic power.

Boys, five years and under—1, Malcolm Bissenden; 2, Charlie Newbold.

Redistribution Bill Reaches Commons

OTTAWA, July 11.—The redistribution bill with its definition of constituencies, is now before the House. The report of the committee which was laid on the table in the House tonight by Hon. E. M. McDonald, chairman, makes no reference to the subject of Maritime Province representation, concerning which hearings took place before the committee. This report, however, is not final, and further sessions of the committee are scheduled for next week, when it may be dealt with.

REMAINS OF STONE AGE UNEARTHED

RUSSIAN ARCHAEOLOGISTS REPORT INTERESTING FIND

Human Skeleton Excavated Supposed to Be 17,000 Years Old—Hundreds of Prehistoric Relics Recovered

KRASNOYARSK, Siberia, July 11.—Russian archaeologists, excavating near here, have unearthed several human bodies belonging to the stone age, a number of prehistoric mammoths, dinosaurs, bisons, gigantic stags and more than 700 stone and bone implements, ornaments and weapons of the prehistoric era.

One of the human skeletons found by the explorers is supposed to be at least 17,000 years old. The expedition was undertaken two years ago, with a view toward fixing the place of the abode of prehistoric man in Siberia, and is working under the direction of Professors Auerhach and Sosnowsky, distinguished Russian archaeologists.

BILL TO CHECK FALSE PUBLICATION

FIRST READING GIVEN AMENDMENT TO CRIMINAL CODE

Printing Matter to Create Hatred and Ill-Will in Communities to Be Indictable

OTTAWA, July 11.—A bill introduced in the House today by S. W. Jacobs, Liberal, George Etienne Cartier, and given first reading, proposes an important amendment to the criminal code in regard to publication of false and seditious matter. The bill aims at preventing the publication of such matter when published with the intention of producing such feelings of ill-will and hostility between different classes of a community that a breach of the peace is likely to follow or lawful business pursuits to be interfered with.

Under its provisions everyone is guilty of an indictable offence and liable to two years imprisonment "who prints or publishes matter with the intention of producing, and which produces or has a tendency to produce, such feelings of hatred and ill-will between different classes of residents in Canada, or between residents in Canada and any other class of persons intending to become residents in Canada as may or is likely from the nature of such matter to incite any person to commit a crime in disturbance of the peace, or any breach of the peace, or to prevent such resident or class of residents engaging in lawful and peaceful pursuits and any person who prints or publishes such matter shall be deemed to intend the consequences which naturally follow from the printing or publication of such matter at the time and in the circumstances in which the matter was printed or published."

Owing to the approach of prorogation, it is unlikely that the bill will advance far this season.

BLAME GOVERNMENT AND ASK ASSISTANCE

Vancouver to Seek Contribution to Fire Department Owing to Change Made in Law

VANCOUVER, July 11.—On the ground that it was Provincial legislation which caused a reduction in the city's fire-fighting force this year, and also because the city is called upon to provide fire protection for Provincial Government property which pays not a cent in taxes to the civic government, Mayor W. R. Owen said today that he is considering the advisability of recommending to the City Council, at its regular meeting Monday, that the Provincial Government should be asked to make a substantial contribution toward the upkeep of the city fire department.

L. R. Steel Concerns Now Incorporated

TORONTO, July 11.—The reorganization of the L. R. Steel Companies and corporations have been completed under the name of the Steel's Consolidated Incorporation, in the United States, and the Steel's Consolidated, Limited, in Canada, with executive offices in Toronto, W. M. Wilkins, of Buffalo, heads the firm in the United States, and John G. Gowans, vice-president of the new company, heads the Canadian company which will be regulated by a board of representatives, stockholders and directors. About 40,000 shareholders who subscribed sufficient funds to take the assets out of the hands of the receivers participate in the organization.

Increases Bank Capital

MELBOURNE, July 11.—The Australian Federal House of Representatives today gave third reading to the bill which provides for increasing the capital of the Commonwealth Bank to £10,000,000 and introduces minor amendments in connection with control of the concern.

Liberal Beats U.F.A. Candidate

MACLENNAN, Alberta, July 11.—The election of L. A. Giroux, Liberal, for the provincial constituency of Grouard was assured here late tonight, when, with 15 polls out of 22 reporting, he was given a majority of more than 500 votes over the U.F.A. Government candidate, James M. Cullie.

DONS HAT TO STOP RIOTING DEPUTIES

Communists Bound Across French Chamber to Attack Socialist and President Ends Sitting

PARIS, July 11.—Passage of the Amnesty Bill through the Chamber of Deputies seems fated to be marked by frequent suspensions of sittings owing to brawls among the Deputies. One this afternoon arose when the Socialists accused the Communist Party of having sold their country. A dozen Communists headed by M. Cachin with a bound, rushed at the accuser, Henri Lemire, a member of the minority. The fray became general before the ushers could intervene, so President Painleve, of the Chamber, donned his hat once more thereby automatically suspending the sitting.

Channel Swim Too Much For Mermaid of Wembley

Conditions were ideal when she started, but she gave up after covering seven miles.

NEWS OF THE SPORTING WORLD

Another Sensational Victory Scored by British at Colombes

Eric Liddell Runs 400 Metres in World's Record Time—Fitch, of Chicago, Second After Lowering Mark for Distance in Semi-Final—Imbach Held Record for One Day, but Broke Down in Final

COLOMBES, France, July 11.—Eric Liddell, thin-legged Scottish divinity student, won Olympic glory for Great Britain today, when he sped to victory in the 400-metre run with a world's record that brought to a climax the most sensational series of races ever witnessed in any international event. The Swiss and American stars before him had shattered the world's mark for the distance, but Liddell, undaunted, came back to the final test, with an even greater speed that broke the heart of his nearest rival, Horatio Fitch, long-limbed Chicagoan, who himself had set a new record only an hour before in the semi-finals. Liddell's time for the distance was 47 3-5 seconds.

Three Times Broken

When the world's record toppled for the third time in two days, Liddell stepped into a niche among the other Olympic heroes, embracing the greatest array modern games have ever known. His victory was as decisive as it was startling, for, leading from the crack of the gun, he fought off his only real challenger, Fitch, in the stretch and won by eight metres. On the stretch behind lay the prostrate forms of Joseph Imbach, the little locksmith, who virtually broke down after having been the world's record holder for twenty-four hours, and J. Coard Taylor, the gallant American, who despite an injured ankle, had third place clinched with a closing rush when he tripped over a lane marker and swirled heavily to the ground.

Taylor's fall enabled G. M. Butler, of Great Britain, and Johnston, of Canada, to gain third and fourth places, but the American, semi-conscious, responded to the appeals of the onlookers to rise and staggered across the finish, winning fifth place. Then he collapsed.

Imbach Collapsed

Farther down the track, almost unnoticed in the pandemonium that broke loose when Liddell broke the tape, another tragedy was enacted as Imbach lifted himself painfully from where he had fallen exhausted. He had gone to the starting pole ill and showed over the first half of the distance that he was badly off form. His collapse came as he was stumbling into the stretch.

His condition tonight was said to be not serious, but Taylor who had to be carried off the field, was under medical care for a badly pulled ligament and lacerations of both knees.

This dramatic struggle of sinew and heart proved the greatest thrill of the sixth day's competition. The day was otherwise given over largely to colorless, prolonged elimination affairs for stirring fights yet to come.

Summaries

400-metre run, first semi-final, three to qualify—H. Fitch, United States, first; G. M. Butler, Great Britain, second; Johnston, Canada, third. Time, 47 4-5 seconds (new world's record).

400-metre run, second semi-final—E. H. Liddell, Great Britain, first; J. Imbach, Switzerland, second; J. G. Taylor, United States, third. Time, 48 1-5 seconds, equalling old world's record.

400-metre run, final—E. H. Liddell, Great Britain, first; Horatio Fitch, Chicago A.A., second; G. M. Butler, Great Britain, third; Johnston, Canada, fourth; J. Coard Taylor, New York A.C., fifth; Imbach, Switzerland, sixth. Time, 47 3-5 seconds.

Total Scores

The total score now shows the United States with 183 1-2 points, and Finland with 103, while Great Britain, through its third spectacular track victory, jumped to 60 1-2 in third place.

COLOMBES, July 11.—N. M. Robertson, of Hamilton, Ont., the only Canadian entrant for the one-design yacht competition in the Olympic programme, covered the Moulan-les-Mureaux course in the sailing practice today in two hours, five minutes and 30 seconds, and was rated seventh, unplaced.

PRINCE SENDING PONIES

NEW YORK, July 11.—The Prince of Wales, who will attend the international polo matches between the United States and British teams at Meadowbrook in September, will leave England August 26, and will send eight of his private polo ponies to this country, according to E. W. Hopping, British polo player.

Mr. Hopping said the Prince does not intend to play in the open championship tournament or in the Monty Waterbury Cup series, but probably will witness both events. The Prince is sending over his own ponies so that he may take part in the English four's practice matches preliminary to the internationals.

RIFLE MEETING WILL END TODAY

MAJOR BLAIR PROBABLE WINNER OF AGGREGATE

Made Only Possible of Meeting Yesterday—President's Cup Match Will Be Final Event

The annual meeting of the British Columbia Rifle Association will be brought to a close today at Heal's Range with the shooting of the second stage of the Lieutenant-Governor's match in the morning, by the marksmen with the thirty-two best scores in the first stage. This will be ten shots at 500 yards and ten shots at 600 yards.

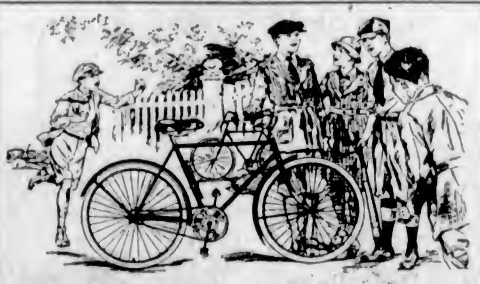

Following this the President's Cup will be shot for. This is a team match between teams of six men representing military and civilian rifle associations, ten shots at 600 yards and ten shots at 800 yards.

Major Blair was in excellent form yesterday. Although shooting conditions were not very good, there being considerable smoke and a tricky light, he made a possible at 600 yards in the Dawson match, the only possible of the meet.

Major Blair is regarded now as the probable winner of the Grand Aggregate. Co.-Sergt. Major of the 69th (Vancouver), is expected to be second and Lieut. Gardner, of the same battalion, will probably take third place, with Major Cunninghom, of the 37th Battalion, next in order.

Salt Lake Ball Team Is Going Home Again

LOS ANGELES, July 11.—William Lane, president of the Salt Lake Baseball Club of the Pacific Coast League, announced today that the club would return to Salt Lake City next week to resume schedules there as a result of a guarantee of $7,000 by the city of Salt Lake. Lane said he received a telegram this morning advising him that the guarantee had been arranged. This cancels plans for play in Vancouver, B.C.

LACROSSE POSTPONED

The lacrosse game scheduled for today at the Royal Athletic Park between the Garrison and a team from Seattle has been postponed. The Tommies are unable to field a team, as some of the players are busy at the rifle meet, now in progress at Heal's Camp.

This will give the local Mann Cup representatives plenty of time to get into trim for their next cup game, which is on the 26th of the month, against the Squamish Indians.

EDMONTON GRADS WILL PLAY MONDAY

TO MEET FRENCH GIRLS IN OLYMPIC EVENT

Will Try for European Basketball Championship on Following Day Playing Against Strassbury Team

COLOMBES, July 11.—The Edmonton girls' basketball team, champions of Canada and the United States, will play against the French basketballers in the Olympic basketball event next Monday.

The Edmonton girls were greatly amused in their practice games of Wednesday, when they defeated a picked Parisian team 64 to 16. The referee was unable to speak English, but he demonstrated by physical signs his decision in connection with the game and the girl champions were quick to comprehend his decisions.

They will leave Colombes next Tuesday to compete against a Strassburg team of girl basketballers for the European championship.

The Strassburg girl players are taller and heavier than the Edmonton girls.

TILDEN IN FINAL OF CLAY COURT TENNIS

ST. LOUIS, July 11.—William T. Tilden II, of Philadelphia, defending champion, advanced to the final round of the national clay court tennis tournament today by defeating Brian Norton, St. Louis, in straight sets, 6-1, 6-1, 6-1.

Robert and Howard Kinsey, California, defeated Leven Jester and John Barr, of Dallas, Texas, in the fourth round of the men's doubles event, 6-0, 6-2, 7-5.

R. E. Schlesinger, of Australia, and A. Chapin, jr., furnished a surprise in the doubles by eliminating Walter Wesbrook and Harvey Snodgrass, the Californians. This match also required five sets, 3-6, 2-6, 6-2, 8-6, 6-4.

Two semi-final doubles matches are to be played tomorrow, bringing together Robert and Howard Kinsey opposing Schlesinger and Chapin, and Tilden and Weiner opposing Griffin and Norton.

LANSDOWNE RACING

VANCOUVER, July 11.—Winning horses in many events at Lansdowne Park this afternoon returned handsome profits and several finishes were of the most exciting order.

HILLCRESTS AND GARRISON TIED

PREMIER BERTH IN BALL LEAGUE JOINTLY OCCUPIED

Hillcrests Get Points by Default From Esquimalt—Y.M.C.A. and Tillicums Win Their Games

The Hillcrests indoor baseball team were able to keep in the running for the second half of the indoor baseball championship comparatively easily last night when their opponents, Esquimalt, had to default the game through being shorthanded. A practice game was played, with the Hillcrests winning by two runs, the final score being: Hillcrests, 12, Esquimalt, 10. This leaves the Garrison and the Hillcrests still tied for the premier berth in the second half of the schedule.

At Central Park the Tillicums continued their winning streak when they handed Prior's a 13-6 defeat in a game that was well fought. Errors on the part of the losers were greatly responsible for their defeat.

The Y. M. C. A. visited the Canteen Ground and took on the Naval Barracks, the former team winning by a 36-5 score. Taking an early lead from the first, the Y. M. C. A. were never overtaken. One circuit clout was knocked during the game by Lewis, of the winners, when he connected with the opposing pitcher's offerings in the sixth and knocked the pill sufficiently far to travel the diamond.

Last night's scores by innings were:

At Macauley Point—
Hillcrests ... 4 6 0 1 0 0 0 1 x—12
Esquimalt .. 0 0 4 3 0 0 0 2 1—10

At Canteen Grounds—
Y. M. C. A... 8 4 6 6 6 4 1 6 4—36
Naval Bks.. 0 0 1 1 0 1 0 1 1— 5

RACING BULLETINS

NEW YORK, July 11. — Pierre Wertheimer's Epinard, the famous French thoroughbred, and his stable mate, Satin Slipper, arrived on the Berengaria today and were taken immediately to Belmont Park to shake off their sea legs. Epinard will occupy the stall that housed Papyrus last year.

COLUMBUS, O., July 11.—Defeat of the sensational Kate Hal in the fre-for-all pace by Merriman of the Murphy stables, featured the getaway card at the Midsummer Grand Circuit meeting here. After Kate Hal had won the first heat in 2:02, when Merriman went to a break, the Murphy pacer took the next two in 2:01 and 2:01¼, the three heats being the fastest paced in any race this season. Kate Hal was a strong favorite and Merriman was second choice.

Chicago Derby

CHICAGO, July 11.—With the prospects of an attendance of 40,000 spectators, the $20,000 Chicago Derby at a mile and a quarter will be decided at Hawthorne tomorrow, with Black Gold, winner of the Kentucky Derby, ranking a heavy favorite. Unless there are last-minute scratches, a field of eight crack three-year-olds will go to the post. Black Gold will have strong opposition from Ladkin, entry of August Belmont, and Gibion, who finished second to Chilhowee in the Latonia Derby. Ladkin will be ridden by Earl Sands, regarded as America's premier jockey. Mack Garner will be astride Gibion, while Johnny Mooney will have Black Gold.

CUMBERLAND WINS FIRST OF SERIES

SCORE TWO GOALS TO ONE FOR HILLHURSTS

Today's Game at Vancouver Will Decide Which Go East to Play for Connaught Cup

NANAIMO, July 11.—Cumberland football team, British Columbia aspirants for the Connaught Cup, defeated the Alberta champions, Hillhurst, of Calgary, here this evening by two goals to one, and will meet the same team again Saturday afternoon in Vancouver to finish the battle which decides which team will journey east in quest of the coveted silverware, now in possession of Nanaimo City, but to be fought for again by every provincial championship team of the Dominion. Today's game was hard and bitterly fought all through.

One Goal Up

The spectators were satisfied they had received their money's worth when Referee Craig, blew the final whistle, with Cumberland one goal up, one game to play, and total goals to count.

The first goal came eight minutes after play started, when Grohani scored for Cumberland. Half an hour before the end of the first period, Turner scored for the Island team, and twenty-eight minutes after the opening of the last half, Conti, playing for Cumberland, scored against his own team on a hard pressure from the Hillhurst forwards.

It was thought by most of the spectators that Cartwright, for the Albertans, was responsible for the goal, but Conti, who had slipped in front of goal and attempted to clear while at full length, sent the ball into his own net, with Cartwright right on top of it.

Wilson Kept Busy

Wilson, playing goal for Hillhurst, put up a wonderful exhibition, having no less than fifteen shots to stop during the game, while Blair was only obliged to save five.

Saturday's game should be on the play today, anybody's, with slight odds on Cumberland's team, as they are a little faster but are not any harder workers than the Albertans, and either team getting a break may pile up a good lead. Both teams are in good shape for the contest, with the exception of Nesbit, and his place is being taken by a good man.

CHEAMINUS BALL NINE WINNERS AT DUNCAN

Take Return Game From Home Players With Score of 14 to 9—Bradshaw Busy Training

DUNCAN, July 11. — Cheminus ball tossers turned the tables on the Duncan nine here last night, when they won from the locals by a 14-9 score. The game was featured by hard hitting and loose fielding, but the visitors put up by far the better game and clearly deserved their win. Horton and McCarthey did the battery work for Chemainus. Duncan used three pitchers, J. Dirom, Bert Doney and H. Robinson, in an effort to stop the flood of hits. Doney slons of these proved fairly effective, and why he was taken out of the box was a mystery to the fans. Ed Evans umpired the game in his usual fair and impartial manner.

Cecil Bradshaw is fast working into condition for his coming battle for the provincial light heavyweight crown. A number of bruised and battered human punching bags, who are assisting the local boy get into shape, are ready to testify to Cecil's punching ability, and those who frequent the challenger's quarters are satisfied that Roy Cliffe will have to put up the best fight of his career if he is to retain his title.

DUNCAN AND MITCHELL WIN FROM AMERICANS

British Golf Professionals Win Four-Ball Match From Hagen and Macdonald Smith by Four and Two

OXHEY, Eng., July 11.—George Duncan and Abe Mitchell, leading British professional golfers, today avenged their defeat of last year at the hands of Walter Hagen and his compatriot, Macdonald Smith, four up and two to play in their 72-hole match for a purse of £600 sterling and international foursome honors.

Last year the American team won by four up and three to play.

On the first thirty-six holes of this year's contest, played yesterday at the St. George's Club, the British pair finished four up. At the conclusion of the last half of the match this afternoon over the Oxhey courts the Americans had succumbed and Duncan and Mitchell prepared to split the £600 purse. Hagen and Smith will receive £50 sterling each as the losers' end.

Duncan pleased the gallery of more than 5,000 spectators that followed today's play by giving a masterly exhibition of his professional game. Never once did he fail to drive straight down the fairway. His short shots always hit the green, and the few times his approaches found bunkers he made the spectators gasp by his well-played recoveries.

There was very little fault to be found today with the drives and seconds of the foursome. On several holes their drives lay huddled within a few feet of each other. This course, which is a paradise for long hitters is 6,478 yards in length and has eleven holes over 400 yards long.

Three times in the first seven holes, which were eventually halved in par figures, it was up to Hagen to sink a five or six footer to win, but each time the ball just grazed the edge of the cup and passed on.

Permanent Drainage of Oakland Avenue Area Would Cost Half a Million, City Council Hears

Authority to investigate and to take action immediately was given the Finance Committee, the City Solicitor and the City Engineer by the City Council yesterday afternoon, in connection with the Bowker Creek drainage plan. Mr. F. M. Preston, the City Engineer, reported that relief could be given householders of Oakland Avenue from the Winter flood nuisance by the expenditure of approximately $3,000 in deepening Bowker Creek below Hillside Avenue and extending to Oakland Avenue. An additional sum of $800 would be required for straightening the creek between Edgeware Road and Burton Avenue in order to divert it from private property.

A deputation of women, residents of the district affected, appeared before the council to protest against present conditions.

Recommendation was also made by the Engineer that a start be made this year on the drainage system planned for Quamichan, Cowichan and Redfern Streets. A partial system would cost $24,000, he said, and a complete one $40,000. The council decided to take no action this year and to leave the project to the 1925 council.

A recommendation by a special committee that a conveyance be made to the municipality of Oak Bay of a strip of land at the corner of Bowker Avenue and the Cadboro Bay Road, in exchange for a two-inch main water service to be laid by the municipality to the boundary of city property occupied by the Aged Man's Home.

UPWARD TREND IN STOCKS AT CLOSING

Moderate Strength Develops After Earlier Period of Irregularity Owing to Attempted Raids

NEW YORK, July 11.—Stock prices developed moderate strength in today's market after an early period of irregularity resulting from several attempts of professional operators to bring about general reaction.

The main trend was decidely upward at the close.

Chief speculative interest again centered in the ublic utilities which contributed one-third of the twenty-one new 1924 high records established during the session.

American Waterworks common showed a net gain of three points. Montana Power, which is expected in some quarters to be the keystone of a big western public utility merger, touched a new top at 71 and then eased to 69¾ for a net gain of 2 1-8.

New Peaks in Railroads

Railroad shares came to the fore when a sudden demand developed for the coal carriers, new peak prices being established by Erie common and second preferred. Chesapeake & Ohio, and Chicago & Eastern Illinois.

Standard industrials were inclined to heaviness in the early trading, but stiffened later when a brisk demand developed.

Oil, rubber, tobacco and sugar shares were rather sluggish. Unsatisfactory trade reports also caused some unsettlement in the textile issues. Rumors of another general cut in Mid-Continent crude prices cast a shadow over theoil issues, Sinclair breaking through its previous low level to 17¾.

Money rates were unchanged. Call money continued to rule at two per cent.

Foreign Exchange

The feature of the foreign exchange market was the strength of sterling which advanced 1½ cents to $4.58, the highest in several months. French francs selling around 5.05⅛.

Bond prices drifted irregularly lower in today's dull trading. Early steadiness gave way to reactionary tendencies, which resulted in scattering one to two points losses throughout the foreign, railroad and industrial lists.

Uneasiness over the reported spread of the Sao Paulo revolution caused further heavy selling of Brazilian bonds.

Expectations that the consummation of the pending railway mergers would be deferred until after election was held partly responsible for the lagging interest in railroad securities.

Independent strength, however, was noted in several industrial mortgages. Wilson convertible 6's bounded up 3⅛ points recovering from a recent wave of profit-taking.

MAN FACES DEATH IN BURNING SHOP

INVADES BLAZING BUILDING TO SAVE VALUABLE PAPERS

Flaming Building's Tin Roof Protects Ladysmith From Destruction—Nearby Premises Saved

LADYSMITH, July 11.—Thursday afternoon a serious fire suddenly broke out in William Rolliston's hardware store, on High Street. One of the garage men from across the street noticed dense clouds of smoke arising from the building and gave the fire alarm. Unfortunately nearly everyone was across the Bay at a Sunday School picnic and for some time volunteers were few, although spectators were many. However, after hours of work the fire, which had originated in an outhouse at the back of the store, was got under control.

Only the tin covering to the building saved the town. As it was, the roof of Jessup's Pharmacy, directly opposite, was in flames five times.

When the fire was well under way, the owner dashed in to save some valuable papers and books, and narrowly escaped death when the stove from the room above crashed through the ceiling, missing him only by inches.

The entire building was totally gutted, although the framework was saved. Very little insurance was carried.

Dodds, of Epping Forest, England.

Immediately upon arrival the visiting Scouts and the local corps, with Mayor Walkem and Rev. F. L. Stephenson, were seated at the luncheon table where the delicious and bountiful feast was spread. The Scouts seemed to have a special failing for pies, for lemon, raisin, fruit,
